Father Antonuzi Says Picture Was Taken Month Ago on City's Street by Three Tourists

Rome, Feb. 4 (AP)—A brown-robed Franciscan friar who says he's never been outside Rome province in his 76-year life today identified as his own the photograph which a former Berlin Nazi said shows missing Hitler henchman Martin Bormann hiding in a monk's garb.

The friar is Father Antonio Romauldi Antonuzi, who interrupted hearing confessions from nuns to talk to reporters and photographers outside a Rome chapel.

He said the photograph, which

German Right-Wing Leader Eberhard Stern said in Berlin was of the deputy fuhrer, was taken of himself "about a month ago on the street by a group of three tourists whom I did not know."

Bormann was reported by various high Nazis to have died during the final days of World War II but occupation officials have never been satisfied he was dead. He was sentenced to death in absentia at the Nuernberg trials and since then has been reported, at various times and without confirmation, in Italy, Soviet Russia, Spain and Argentina.

Family of Five Killed in Blaze

Man, Wife, Son, Twins Are Victims at Binghamton

Binghamton, Feb. 4 (AP)—A young family of five died today in their flaming third-floor apartment after an oil stove exploded.

The dead were: George Resseguie, 23, his wife, Lola, 22, and their three children, George and Georgia Anne, 3-year-old twins, and George, 18 months.

Patrolmen Harry Jung and Richard Koffman, braved smoke and flames to run through the three-story frame building and rescue other occupants, police said. The victims were found in the charred bedroom of the family's three-room apartment.

Fire Lt. Joseph Dale said the baby's body was found on the floor near a window, one arm outstretched along the base of the wall. Dale said the child apparently had attempted to crawl to safety.

The bodies of the parents and the twins were found lying on a double bed.

Cause Not Determined
Dale said the cause of the explosion was not learned immediately.

Firemen threw up ladders to reach the windows, but were unable to enter the apartment because of the heat and flames. Firemen said damage to the building was confined chiefly to the third floor.

Resseguie was a laborer employed by the New York State Electric and Gas Corporation.

Short Circuit Blamed

Firemen were called at 1:18 p. m. Sunday by a box alarm from Hasbrouck avenue and Murray street for a slight fire in a sedan owned by Joseph Wenzel, of Theresa Lane. A short circuit in wiring damaged only the wires.

No Flood Danger Seen as Ashokan Overflows Today

The Ashokan Reservoir was overflowing over its spillway at a slow rate this morning, but statistics at the Kingston office of New York city's Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity indicated there was no impending flood danger.

Rainfall at Brown Station, Ashokan Reservoir, measured .71 inches in the 24-hour period ending at 8 a. m. today, which is not considered an unusual rainfall. At Prattville, only .14 inches fell in the same period.

Streams above the reservoir were reported as well under flood stage this morning.

Kefauver Doubts Job Wanted by Truman: Says He's Not Running for Second Place

Aiken Has Idea

Vermonters Says Truman Feared Licking in New Hampshire

(By The Associated Press)
Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.) confidently predicted yesterday he could win the Democratic presidential nomination even if President Truman seeks re-election.

But he said he does not think Truman "wants to job" again.

Kefauver said on a radio (CBS) program he is not running for second place, and if Truman runs again and offers his backing to Kefauver for the vice presidential nomination, he would not "be interested at all."

The President, who has not revealed his 1952 plans, figured in two other developments:

Senator Aiken (R-Vt.) said he thinks the President withdrew from the Democratic presidential primary in New Hampshire "because Senator Kefauver would have beaten the tar out of him."

Would Be Withdrawn

The President told his news conference Thursday his name, entered without his consent, would be withdrawn from the March 11 New Hampshire primary. He said such primaries are eye-wash, and he could have the nomination if he decides he wants it, without entering them.

Senator Maybank (D-S.C.) declined to tell newsmen on a television show whether he would support Truman if the President is the Democratic nominee for reelection. He recently said he was opposed to Truman, and would support Senator Russell (D-Ga.).

Maybank told interviewers on the NBC "Meet the Press" program that his support would depend on the vice presidential nominee and the party platform in the event Truman ran again.

Taft Is Silent

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), first Republican to announce for the GOP nomination, yesterday would not comment on a resolution designed to get his name entered in Oregon's primary in May.

The Oregon State GOP committee passed a resolution Saturday aimed at getting Taft to test his strength in that state. Taft said in Cincinnati he would have nothing to say on the matter "for some time."

In Washington, political sources said Republicans backing Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for president soon will make known his recorded views on taxes, labor, farm and many other domestic issues.

They are coming through his speeches, letters and memoranda as background for the campaign document. Eisenhower himself has been silent on the issues, and accepted the nomination if it is Taft's, he said he will not take any part in campaigning.

Confidence Expressed

Party confidence in eventual victory in the still-distant election was expressed by leaders of the two parties:

Guy Gabrielson, chairman of the Republican National committee, said on an NBC-TV program he believed any GOP candidate to lead any Democrat.

Frank E. McKinney, Democratic National chairman, said in Detroit: "Our record and the sorry

Mystery Witness Will Tell Of Reds' Murder of 4,143 Men

Washington, Feb. 4 (AP)—A man who says he saw Russians murdering Polish army officers in Katyn Forest during World War 2 will testify before a congressional committee trying to find out whether Nazis or Russians committed the massacre.

Rep. Madden (D-Ind.), chairman of a special House investigating committee, announced during the weekend that "this is the only eye witness—outside the men who did the murdering—who has ever been produced."

So far unidentified, the mystery witness will appear Wednesday, Madden said.

The committee, however, will begin its investigation today (1:30 p. m.) into the mass murder of 4,143 Polish army leaders in Katyn Forest near Smolensk in 1943. That many corpses were found in crude mass graves. Another 11,000 Polish prisoners are still missing.

All were taken from Poland and held in three western Russian prison camps. The Russians, despite this, say the Nazis are to blame for the massacre. The Germans blame the Russians.

John Mitchell, committee counsel, says he has ample evidence to prove that the Russians committed the killings.

First witness to appear before the special committee will be Col. John H. Van Vliet, an American army officer who was flown from a German prison camp by the Nazis to see the stacked bodies of the dead Poles.

The Nazis wanted the American to authenticate their gruesome discovery.

Van Vliet, back from duty in Japan, is repeating the story for the third time officially. He made a report to the Pentagon after his release from captivity, and when this was reportedly lost, he made a second five years later from memory.

In addition to Van Vliet and the mystery witness, the committee has announced it also has two Poles who escaped from some of the camps where the murdered officers previously were confined.

They may appear masked, in order to protect their identities so relatives still behind the Iron Curtain won't be punished, Madden said.

Madden said the hearings may be televised after the second or third day.

Wives Will Get Pay Envelopes Sealed

Philadelphia, Feb. 4 (AP)—The wives of 14 Philadelphia men are going to receive unopened pay envelopes after this, due to a ruling of Magistrate Samuel Clark.

The magistrate pronounced that sentence on 14 men arrested during a raid of a luncheonette where police found three tables of poker going full blast.

Inspector Albert DuBois told the magistrate the luncheonette was raided on complaint of some of the wives who didn't like the idea of their men coming home late and short every pay day.

The luncheonette owner was held in $300 bail for court.

Lovett Says Cuts Would Increase Calculated Risks

Defense Secretary Views 52 Billions Needed—Realizes Economy Is Involved

Washington, Feb. 4 (AP)—Defense Secretary Lovett said today any cut in the 52 billion dollar military budget recommended by President Truman for fiscal 1953 would "increase, beyond the realm of prudence, the calculated risks already taken."

Lovett told the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee and the Joint Economic Committee that even this figure for the year starting July 1 meant a cutback in original defense goals.

Strongly recommending Congressional approval of the 52 billion he believes is a rock-bottom figure, Lovett said:

"With a lesser amount of money we would be limiting our efforts to a program level that would increase, beyond the realms of prudence, the calculated risks already taken."

"It would force us to less efficient operations and would not permit the continued accelerated production during the next two years of the major military items we need."

Widespread Demand

There has been widespread demand that the military budget be cut to ease the drain on the domestic economy. Some have urged a cut in foreign military aid.

Lovett said the Defense Department realized that "the essential foundations of our entire military structure is a sound, vital and progressive economy" and that too heavy a drain must not be placed upon it.

He said the Defense Department has taken a "realistic" attitude, has made new economies, and instead of attempting to reach certain goals in 1953 or 1954 it has delayed them and funds asked now will permit a program merely "expanding toward these goals."

He listed these goals as 21 full-strength divisions for the army; 408 combat vessels and 16 carrier air groups for the navy; three full divisions and three air wings for the marines; and 143 wings for the air force. "All three services would have 'the appropriate support-type units,'" he said.

After Careful Consideration
"The decision to build towards these goals rather than attempt to reach them in fiscal year 1953 or 1954 was made after careful consideration of the economic, material, fiscal and military implications involved," he said.

Lovett said a program of partial mobilization while maintaining a strong civilian economy "has never before been attempted in this country."

"We have always operated military production on the feast or famine basis of large production during actual war and little or no military production at other times," he said.

He said tremendous gains have been made in the first 18 months: The army from 590,000 men, 10 divisions and 11 regimental combat teams in June, 1950 to 1,570,000 men, 18 divisions, and 18 regimental units; the navy from 380,000 men with 238 combatant vessels to 700,000 men and 400 combatant vessels; the marines from 74,000 men to 219,000; and the air force from 411,000 men and 48 wings to nearly 900,000 men and 90 wings.

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—James J. The defense called only one witness, Arthur Moran, a city fireman and a brother of the former deputy commissioner.

Extension Is Sought

Port Ewen Woman Hurt in Accident Near South Cairo

Margaret L. Christiana, 26, and Escort Plunge Into Gravel Pit in Auto

Margaret L. Christiana, 26, of Port Ewen, was reported in serious condition at the Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill, today as the result of injuries suffered when the car in which she was riding plunged an estimated 60 to 75 feet into a gravel pit near South Cairo.

State police at Catskill said the car was operated by Rodney Sagendorf, 27, of 680 Broadway, Kingston, who was less seriously injured.

Miss Christiana, who is a nurse at the Cairo Central School, state police said, suffered a skull fracture, contusions and a neck injury. Sagendorf suffered a head injury.

Happened at 12:45 a. m.

The accident happened at 12:45 a. m. on the Sandy Plains road near South Cairo. The police report indicated that the car plunged into the pit during attempts to get it free of a muddy section along the road after it had been stuck.

The injured were taken to the hospital in the Citizens Hose Company ambulance of Catskill. Sagendorf was discharged following treatment.

State Trooper Daniel McDonnell investigated.

Trial Date Is Set

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard today set Feb. 19 as a tentative trial date for Ernest Zelnick, 30, Internal Revenue agent, and H. Harold Miller, 42, a Catskill accountant, who are charged with extortion. An indictment charges that Zelnick, of 129 Downs street, Kingston, and Miller, of 335 Main street, extorted $2,000 from Vincent Di Stefano, of Cairo, and $1,000 from his brother, Sam.

New 40th Troops Tangle With Reds

California Guard Unit Is Identified for First Time by Army

Seoul, Korea, Feb. 4 (AP)—The newly-arrived 40th Division—California's old National Guard outfit—today was identified in action on the central Korean front east of Kumsong.

The Eighth Army reported the 40th tangled with the Chinese Reds Sunday in a bitter, hour-long patrol action. It had been announced earlier the division had been in Korea about two weeks, but today's report was the first of a specific clash.

It was the day's biggest patrol clash on the snow-covered front. The mercury skidded to 15 degrees below zero and allied infantrymen elsewhere huddled in their bunkers.

The bitter cold and strong winds limited today's ground action and air strikes. However, a flight of 19 Sabre jets spotted about 50 MIGs high over north-west Korea and reported scoring hits on two of the Red jets in a brief exchange of firing passes.

Vehicles Attacked

The Fifth Air Force reported fighters and bombers attacked 700 Communist vehicles Sunday night and early today and destroyed 54 of them.

Fairless Admits His Firm's Ability to Pay, 'Warns' Government

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—Benjamin F. Fairless said today his United States Steel Corporation could meet wage demands and hold its present prices—but this would result in a 60 per cent reduction in its Federal income tax payments.

Fairless added that such a wage increase, if allowed to spread throughout American industry, could result in a net loss to the government "conservatively estimated at 11 billion dollars."

He said the ultimate "cost of a wage increase would come out of taxable income."

Says Prices Must Go Up

The president of U. S. Steel said the government then "will be obliged to lift the lid on prices if for no other reason than to protect its tax revenues and to maintain its own income."

Fairless presented his arguments against another pay boost for steel workers before a wage stabilization board panel seeking to prevent a strike in the steel industry threatened for Feb. 23.

Arguments for an 18½-cent-an-hour wage increase and other benefits were made before the board last week by the CIO United Steelworkers of America. The union on Friday added a demand for a guaranteed minimum annual wage amounting to about $3,000.

In his statement today, Fairless

Three Big Storms Converge; High Winds Are Expected

(By The Associated Press)

Three storms which brought the country a wide variety of weather over the weekend converged today, boding high winds and rain for New England.

One had whipped up a blizzard in the central Rockies Saturday that took three lives, and blanketed the center of the continent with rain, light snow and freezing drizzle as it moved east.

A second sucked dust thousands of feet into the air over much of Texas before settling it with rain, and moved on over Arkansas into Tennessee.

A third, with winds ranging up to 75 miles an hour, lashed the Atlantic coast and drove a 2,600-ton freighter aground off Cape Hatteras, N. C., as it took a northward course paralleling the seaboard.

The result was rain over the middle Mississippi and Ohio valleys. Southern and eastern Great Lakes region, and most of the middle and north Atlantic states.

The blizzard near Colton, Utah, Saturday stalled more than a dozen automobiles and when highway crews reached them Sunday, three occupants of one buried car were dead of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Great clouds of red dust, swept up from drought-stricken plains of western Texas, blotted out the sun Sunday. The dust cut visibility to three-quarters of a mile in eastern parts of the state before rain washed it away.

Twenty-six crewmen of the stranded Panamanian freighter Miget abandoned her after the ship ran onto a sandbar and broke in two off Cape Hatteras. They reached shore safely. The coast guard fought a losing battle throughout the night in an attempt to reach the Miget.

Rains brought the threat of more flooding along the Ohio river in Kentucky and Ohio. The Weather Bureau at Cincinnati said the river level, stationary over night, may rise six inches. It already was 2.2 feet above flood stage, but 2.8 feet below last week's crest.

The situation was similar at Louisville. The river stage was 4.8 feet above flood stage and another .7 rise was predicted. But this would still be about one and a half feet below the danger point.

Temperatures remained generally above normal over the nation today. The cold spots were Aberdeen, S. D., 2, and Caribou, Me., 13.

It also rained in the Pacific northwest. The northern Rockies had snow.

Agreements Reached on 2 Big Issues

Nuckols Says He Feels Reds Also May Have Hopes—Full Session Scheduled

To Provide Draft

Reds Will Have Method to Work Out Details Pending

Munsan, Korea, Feb. 4 (AP)—A United Nations command spokesman said tonight the Allies and Communists "have moved closer to an armistice" in Korea.

He added that the Reds also may "have hopes of an armistice."

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, the spokesman, said agreements reached by staff officers working on truce supervision and the subcommittee on prisoner exchange mean "we have moved closer to an armistice."

He said Communist acceptance of a UN proposal to start immediate negotiations on the final section of an armistice indicates "they have hopes of an armistice."

Session Scheduled

Truce negotiators scheduled a full dress session Wednesday to start work on the fifth and last agenda—recommendations to governments. And there were optimistic predictions from an Allied member of the prisoner exchange subcommittee.

"I think we can get together and write the rest of the agreement" on prisoner exchange, said Rear Adm. R. E. Libby. "For the first time, I think we are in a position to settle the nuts and bolts of the situation."

Staff officers drafting truce supervision plans made no measurable headway. They still must iron out differences over troop rotation, neutral inspection and definitions of coastal waters. UN spokesmen have described the differences as minor. The staff officers are not debating the key truce supervision issue—whether the Reds have the right to build and repair North Korean military airfields.

First Since December

The full, five-man armistice delegations, to meet in Panmunjom at 10 a. m. Wednesday (8 p. m. EST Tuesday), will be the first plenary session since Dec. 4 Subcommittees and staff officers have been in session daily, however.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy proposed Jan. 31 that negotiations be conducted simultaneously to speed agreement on an armistice.

In accepting his suggestion the Reds agreed to provide a detailed working draft. They are expected to propose withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea—a pet Communist project—and a high level political conference to settle the whole Korean question.

UN headquarters in Tokyo said no recommendations will be made to governments involved in the Korean war unless the truce negotiators agree on what to recommend.

Kills Speculation

The disclosure killed off speculation that two separate sets of recommendations would be made. Staff officers working on truce supervision and the prisoner exchange subcommittee will meet as usual at 11 a. m. Tuesday (9 p. m. EST Monday).

Admiral Libby Monday gave newsmen the most optimistic report of the prisoner exchange subcommittee's 53 meetings. "We may be ready to go to the staff officer level in a day or two. I may be completely wrong, but I

"The decision to build towards these goals rather than attempt to reach them in fiscal year 1953 or 1954 was made after careful consideration of the economic, material, fiscal and military implications involved," he said.

Lovett said a program of partial mobilization while maintaining a strong civilian economy "has never before been attempted in this country."

"We have always operated military production on the feast or famine basis of large production during actual war and little or no military production at other times," he said.

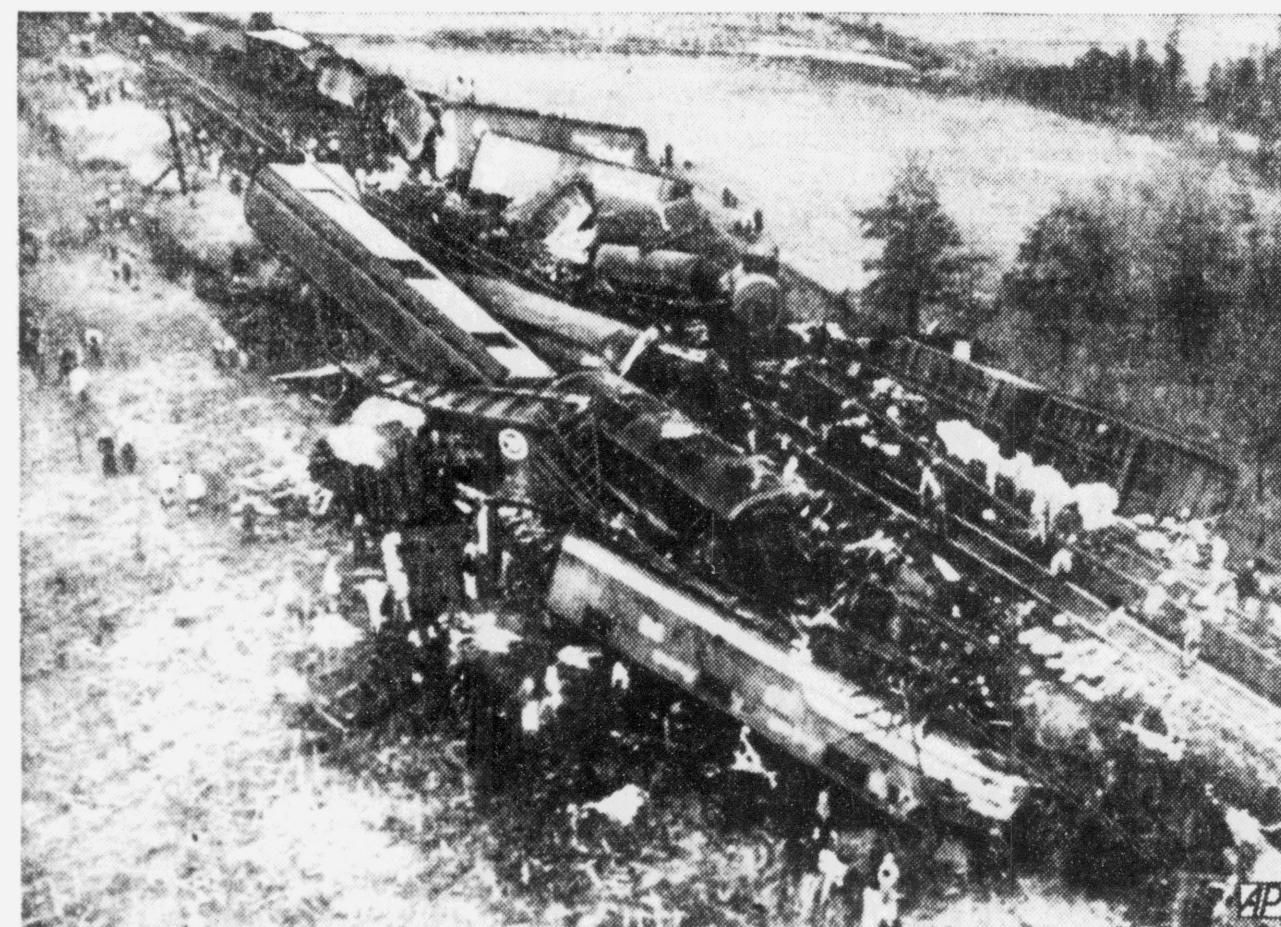

He said tremendous gains have been made in the first 18 months: The army from 590,000 men, 10 divisions and 11 regimental combat teams in June, 1950 to 1,570,000 men, 18 divisions, and 18 regimental units; the navy from 380,000 men with 238 combatant vessels to 790,000 men and 400 combatant vessels; the marines from 74,000 men to 219,000; and the air force from 411,000 men and 48 wings to nearly 900,000 men and 90 wings.

Moran Rests Case
New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—James J. Moran, former first deputy fire commissioner on trial on charges of conspiracy and extortion in a $800,000-a-year fire department shakedown racket, rested his case today without testifying. The defense called only one witness, Arthur Moran, a city fireman and a brother of the former deputy commissioner.

Extension Is Sought
Washington, Feb. 4 (AP)—Congressional leaders urged President Truman today to submit his request for extension of the Defense Production Act as soon as possible.

Port Ewen Woman Hurt in Accident Near South Cairo

Margaret L. Christiana, 26, and Escort Plunge Into Gravel Pit in Auto

Margaret L. Christiana, 26, of Port Ewen, was reported in serious condition at the Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill, today as the result of injuries suffered when the car in which she was riding plunged into an estimated 60 to 75 feet into a gravel pit near South Cairo.

State police at Catskill said the car was operated by Rodney Sagendorf, 27, of 680 Broadway, Kingston, who was less seriously injured.

Miss Christiana, who is a nurse at the Cairo Central School, state police said, suffered a skull fracture, contusions and a neck injury. Sagendorf suffered a head injury.

Happened at 12:45 a. m.
The accident happened at 12:45 a. m. on the Sandy Plains road near South Cairo. The police report indicated that the car plunged into the pit during a rainstorm to get it free of a muddy section along the road after it had been stuck.

The injured were taken to the hospital in the Citizens Hose Company ambulance of Catskill. Sagendorf was discharged following treatment.

State Trooper Daniel McDonnell investigated.

Trial Date Is Set

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard today set Feb. 19 as a tentative trial date for Ernest Zelnick, 30, Internal Revenue agent, and H. Harold Miller, 42, a Catskill accountant, who are charged with extortion. An indictment charges that Zelnick, of 129 Downs street, Kingston, and Miller, of 335 Main street, extorted $2,000 from Vincent Di Stefano, of Cairo, and $1,000 from his brother, Sam.

Two Plead Guilty

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—Two veteran clerical employees of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's main office today pleaded guilty to one count of a 17-count first degree grand larceny indictment alleging they defrauded the insurance firm of $25,000. The defendants are Eugene J. Carroll, 38, of (26 Lincoln Road) Hempstead, N. Y., and Richard Wilson, 26, of Manhattan. Carroll was a 20-year employee of Metropolitan while Wilson has worked there 15 years.

U.S. Steel Could Give Raise, But U. S. Would Lose Taxes

New 40th Troops Tangle With Reds

Seoul, Korea, Feb. 4 (AP)—The newly-arrived 40th Division—California's old National Guard outfit—today was identified in action on the central Korean front east of Kumson.

The Eighth Army reported the 40th tangled with the Chinese Reds Sunday in a bitter, hour-long patrol action. It had been announced earlier the division had been in Korea about two weeks, but today's report was the first of a specific clash.

It was the day's biggest patrol clash on the snow-covered front. The mercury skidded to 15 degrees below zero and allied infantrymen elsewhere huddled in their bunkers.

The bitter cold and strong winds limited today's ground action and air strikes. However, a flight of 19 Sabre jets spotted about 50 MIGs high over north-west Korea and reported scoring hits on two of the Red jets in a brief exchange of firing passes.

Vehicles Attacked
The Fifth Air Force reported fighters and bombers attacked 700 Communist vehicles Sunday night and early today and destroyed 54 of them.

Eight B-29 Superforts bombed the rail bypass bridge at Suncheon in northwest Korea Sunday night. (Continued on Page 14, Col. 4)

Fairless Admits His Firm's Ability to Pay, 'Warns' Government

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—Benjamin F. Fairless said today his United States Steel Corporation could meet wage demands and hold its present prices—but this would result in a 60 per cent reduction in its Federal income tax payments.

Fairless added that such a wage increase, if allowed to spread throughout American industry, could result in a net loss to the government "conservatively estimated at 11 billion dollars."

He said the ultimate "cost of a wage increase would come out of taxable income."

Says Prices Must Go Up
The president of U. S. Steel said the government then "will be obliged to lift the lid on prices if for no other reason than to protect its tax revenues and to maintain its own income."

Fairless presented his arguments against another pay boost for steel workers before a wage stabilization board panel seeking to prevent a strike in the steel industry threatened for Feb. 23.

Arguments for an 18½ cent-an-hour wage increase and other benefits were made before the board last week by the CIO United Steelworkers of America.

The union on Friday added a demand for a guaranteed minimum annual wage amounting to about $3,000.

Three Big Storms Converge; High Winds Are Expected

(By The Associated Press)
Three storms which brought the country a wide variety of weather over the weekend converged today, boding high winds and rain for New England.

One had whipped up a blizzard in the central Rockies Saturday that took three lives, and blanketed the center of the continent with rain, light snow and freezing drizzle as it moved east.

A second sucked dust thousands of feet into the air over much of Texas before settling it with rain, and moved on over Arkansas into Tennessee.

A third, with winds ranging up to 75 miles an hour, lashed the Atlantic coast and drove a 2,600-ton freighter aground off Cape Hatteras, N. C., as it took a northward course paralleling the seaboard.

The result was rain over the middle Mississippi and Ohio valleys. Southern and eastern Great Lakes region, and most of the middle and north Atlantic states.

The blizzard near Colton, Utah, Saturday stalled more than a dozen automobiles and when highway crews reached them Sunday, three occupants of one buried car were dead of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Great clouds of red dust, swept up from drought-stricken plains of western Texas, blotted out the sun Sunday. The dust cut visibility to three-quarters of a mile in eastern parts of the state before rain washed it away.

Twenty-six crewmen of the stranded Panamanian freighter Miget abandoned her after the ship ran onto a sandbar and broke in two off Cape Hatteras. They reached shore safely. The coast guard fought a losing battle throughout the night in an attempt to reach the Miget.

Rains brought the threat of more flooding along the Ohio river in Kentucky and Ohio. The Weather Bureau at Cincinnati said the river level, stationary over night, may rise six inches. It already was 2.8 feet above flood stage, but 2.2 feet below last week's crest.

The situation was similar at Louisville. The river stage was 4.8 feet above flood stage and another 7 rise was predicted. But this would still be about one and a half feet below the danger point.

Temperatures remained generally above normal over the nation today. The cold spots were Aberdeen, S. D., 2, and Caribou, Me., 13.

It also rained in the Pacific northwest. The northern Rockies had snow.

Agreements Reached on 2 Big Issues

Nuckols Says He Feels Reds Also May Have Hopes—Full Session Scheduled

To Provide Draft

Reds Will Have Method to Work Out Details Pending

Munsan, Korea, Feb. 4 (AP)—A United Nations command spokesman said tonight the Allies and Communists "have moved closer to an armistice" in Korea.

He added that the Reds also may "have hopes of an armistice."

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, the spokesman, said agreements reached by staff officers working on truce supervision and the subcommittee on prisoner exchange mean "we have moved closer to an armistice."

He said Communist acceptance of a UN proposal to start immediate negotiations on the final section of an armistice indicates "they have hopes of an armistice."

Session Scheduled
Truce negotiators scheduled a full dress session Wednesday to start work on the fifth and last agenda—recommendations to governments. And there were optimistic predictions from an Allied member of the prisoner exchange subcommittee.

"I think we can get together and write the rest of the agreement" on prisoner exchange, said Rear Adm. R. E. Libby. "For the first time, I think we are in a position to settle the nuts and bolts of the situation."

Staff officers drafting truce supervision plans made no measurable headway. They still must iron out differences over troop rotation, neutral inspection and definitions of coastal waters. UN spokesmen have described the differences as minor. The staff officers are not debating the key truce supervision issue—whether the Reds have the right to build and repair North Korean military airfields.

First Since December
The full, five-man armistice delegations, to meet in Panmunjom at 10 a. m. Wednesday (8 p. m. EST Tuesday), will be the first plenary session since Dec. 4 Subcommittees and staff officers have been in session daily, however.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy proposed Jan. 31 that negotiations on three sections of the truce be conducted simultaneously to speed agreement on an armistice.

In accepting his suggestion the Reds agreed to provide a detailed working draft. They are expected to propose withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea—a pet Communist project—and a high level political conference to settle the whole Korean question.

UN headquarters in Tokyo said no recommendations will be made to governments involved in the Korean war unless the truce negotiators agree on what to recommend.

Kills Speculation

The disclosure killed off speculation that two separate sets of recommendations would be made.

Staff officers working on truce supervision and the prisoner exchange subcommittee will meet as usual at 11 a. m. Tuesday (9 p. m. EST Monday).

Admiral Libby Monday gave newsmen the most optimistic report of the prisoner exchange subcommittee's 53 meetings.

"We may be ready to go to the staff officer level in a day or two. I may be completely wrong, but I (Continued on Page 14, Col. 4)"

Man Held for Jury After Stealing Car
Frank Ropinsky, 40, of Route 1, Saugerties, was ordered held for grand jury action when he was arraigned Saturday afternoon before Police Justice Daniel Lamb of Saugerties on a grand larceny charge.

Ropinsky was arrested Saturday morning by Saugerties police, who charged him with the theft that morning of an automobile belonging to Frank Hill of Palenville. The car was taken from a parking lot in the village of Saugerties, police said.

Harold Ickes Dies At Washington of Arthritic Illness

HAROLD L. ICKES

Washington, Feb. 4 (AP)—Death came quietly at dusk yesterday to Harold L. Ickes, 77, the New Dealer whose sharp wit and blunt speech stormed for two decades across the national scene.

Ickes, self-styled "Old Curmudgeon," died at 6:25 p. m. in a coma at a hospital here. He succumbed after an 11 weeks illness following complication of an old arthritic condition.

Virtually an unknown in 1932 when President Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed him Secretary of the Interior, Ickes had become one of the most turbulent figures in politics by 1946, when he resigned in a huff to President Truman.

"A unique figure in American public life is lost to the nation," President Truman commented last night, adding:

"He was without a true patriot and a many-sided citizen whose passing leaves a void in our national life not easily filled."

Funeral services are scheduled for 2:30 p. m. Wednesday at All Souls' (Unitarian) Church in Washington, with the Rev. Palfrey Perkins of King's Chapel, Boston, Mass., presiding. Burial will be at Sandy Spring, Md.

Headed PWA

During the turbulent depression years of the 1930's Ickes was head of the Public Works Administration, overseeing—sometimes down to the last penny—more than seven billion dollars worth of public building.

His bitter feud with the late Harry Hopkins, President Roosevelt's close friend and head of the Works Progress Administration, made New Deal history.

Of himself, Ickes once remarked: "I've known for a long time that I'm not loved with the fervor to which I'm entitled. If a man worked hard at it he couldn't get a bigger list of enemies than I."

The origin of the word "curmudgeon" is unknown. According to Webster, it means "an avaricious, grasping fellow; a miser; niggard; churl."

Straus' Took Issue

But even so depreciating a self-appraisal drew fire. Reclamation Commissioner Michael W. Straus, who served under Ickes in many capacities, said in a biographical sketch written for the Associated Press:

"No real curmudgeon, even self-labeled, could survive to serve in the cabinet of the President of the United States longer than any other living mortal."

"A rare combination of distant vision and immediate shrewdness, during and doggedness, wrapped in a brilliant gruffness used as a protective shroud for basic understanding, brought that privilege to Harold L. Ickes."

Straus said that Ickes, as World War II petroleum administrator, carried fuel conservation to the extreme, typical of his reputation as "Honest Hal." He jotted down 18,000 numbers of speeding cars and turned them in to police.

Could No Longer Stay

When Ickes resigned from President Truman's cabinet he said he could no longer stay and "retain my self respect." Crux of the dispute was the President's nomination of Edwin W. Pauley, an oil man, to be undersecretary of the Navy. Vigorously opposed by Ickes, the nomination was later dropped at Pauley's request.

After his resignation, Ickes authored a syndicated column and a magazine series. His name continued to be linked with public issues, although in recent years he grew comparatively quiet.

Mrs. Ickes, the former Jane Dahman said the funeral would be simple, in keeping with her husband's wishes. He suggested "characteristically," she said, that friends might contribute to an arthritic aid foundation instead of flowers.

Ickes was born March 15, 1874, near Hollidaysburg in Blair county, Pa. He was graduated from the University of Chicago with a bachelor's degree and entered newspaper work. Later he took a law course and began practice in 1907.

The interior secretaryship was his first public office. Other survivors are two sons and a daughter. The first Mrs. Ickes, the former Anna Wilmarth Thompson, died in 1935. Ickes remarried three years later.

A son of the first marriage, Raymond W. Ickes, is a lawyer in San Francisco. Children of the second marriage are Harold McEwen Ickes, 12, and Elizabeth, 10.

Rev. Benjamin C. Warren

Notice of the death of the Rev. Benjamin Clark Warren, who served as pastor of St. James Methodist Church in this city from 1897 to 1898, at Rehoboth Beach, Del., has been received in this city. He resided at 14 Park avenue, Rehoboth Beach, Del., since his retirement from the ministry in 1932. The Rev. Mr. Warren came from the Wilmington Conference in 1890 after serving as pastor at Felton in 1882, Royal Oak from 1883 to 1884, Anamess from 1885 to 1886 and Deal Island from 1887 to 1889. After coming to the New York Conference he served at Sheffield from 1890 to 1892 and from 1893 to 1896 at Pawling. From 1897 through 1898 he was pastor at St. James Church in this city, going from here to Union where he was pastor from 1899 to 1901. From 1902 through 1904 he was at the Washington Street Methodist Church in Poughkeepsie. It was during his ministry in Poughkeepsie that he wrote a book in the Land of the Romburg which created quite a stir. Members of his congregation made charges that characters in this book were drawn from the congregation and an action ensued. The book was quite critical of some of the action of the characters and created widespread concern. The book was dedicated to his wife, Lydia Carpenter Warren, and the scene of the activities was in Quindauquo, which people said was intended to represent Poughkeepsie. From Poughkeepsie he went to Centenary in New York where he remained from 1905 to 1906, going to St. John's Church in Newburgh where he remained from 1907 to 1911. In 1912 through 1914 he was pastor at St. Paul's Church in Peekskill. From 1915 through 1923 he was at the Eighteenth Street Church in New York and the next two years he was pastor at Chatham. In 1929 he went to Cold Springs where he remained until his retirement in 1932. At the time of his retirement in 1932 he had completed 50 years in the ministry and on March 13, 1932 when he retired from active ministry he was presented with a scroll at a reception in the town hall attended by over 2,000 people from all denominations. The scroll, a hand-penned parchment, was signed by representatives of all religious schools and denominations. Following his retirement from the Methodist Church in the Highlands at Cold Springs he went to Delaware to lead a retired life. He was past 90 at the time of his death.

Will Demand Action

Paris, Feb. 4 (AP)—The Asian-Arab countries announced today they will demand that the United Nations Security Council take up the question of Tunisia. A spokesman said the demand would be made by the Asia-Arab states acting as a group. Ahmad Shukairy of Syria, assistant secretary general of the Arab League, said the step had been decided upon because of continued unrest in France's great North African protectorate.

Thousands Hear Evangelist

Washington, Feb. 4 (AP)—Thousands gathered at the steps of the national capitol yesterday heard Evangelist Billy Graham say he could be elected president "on a platform calling the people back to God." The young preacher delivered two sermons during an hour-long meeting broadcast coast-to-coast by the ABC radio network. He spoke from the spot, presidents take the oath of office. The crowd was estimated variously at from 20,000 to 45,000.

Morris Sets Up Shop

Washington, Feb. 4 (AP)—Newbold Morris, the Truman Administration's Republican "cleanup" man, set up shop for his corruption-in-government investigation today, laughing off a barrage of criticism from members of his own party. The six foot three and one-half inch New York lawyer likened the congressional heckling to the hazing inflicted on newcomers at many schools, and declared: "This is, you know, an election year and I intend to keep my sense of humor. If Rosenberg, Lillenthal and Acheson can take it, so can I."

Date Is Awarded

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—Kansas City was awarded one date—March 29—of the Olympic basketball trials in a compromise move announced today by the U. S. Olympic Committee. The other three days of the trials will be held in New York's Madison Square Garden, March 29, 31 and April 1.

CROUPY NIGHT COUGHING
CAUSED BY COLDS

The night the town can't get to sleep

ALL OVER TOWN people lie awake . . . when a child is lost. Hearts stand still, not alone with sympathy, but with the thought, "There, but for the grace of God, goes mine!"

And greatly as the searchers need the newspaper to find out the details, the rest of us in our suspense need the newspaper even more.

When the lost is found, no matter how we first hear the news, we snatch up the paper to get the whole warming story.

Every day—in milder measure, perhaps—there are many stories that affect everyone of us. Some pieces of news are told nowhere else. Others are never told in full except in the newspaper.

You never know when you get up in the morning what the newspaper will bring you. One day's big news may come from Washington . . . another's from the used car lot down the block. You only know that every day there will be things you can't afford to miss. So you read the newspaper every day. And so does everybody else.

• Why do advertisers spend more of their money in newspapers than in any other form of advertising? Simply because everybody reads the newspaper every day.

So why advertise only to fractions of the people? Radio and TV programs reach only fractions of anybody's market—sport fans, homemakers, kids, or whatever. And even they can't all listen at the time a commercial is broadcast. Magazines reach only fractions of a market. For each one appeals to some people—not to others.

The Newspaper is created fresh every day for everybody.

Only the newspaper is first with the most news . . . first with the most people . . . first with the most advertisers!

The newspaper is always 'first with the most'

Harold Ickes Dies At Washington of Arthritic Illness

HAROLD L. ICKES

Washington, Feb. 4 (AP)—Death came quietly at dusk yesterday to Harold L. Ickes, 77, the New Dealer whose sharp wit and blunt speech stormed for two decades across the national scene.

Ickes, self-styled "Old Curmudgeon", died at 6:25 p. m. in a coma at a hospital here. He succumbed after an 11 weeks illness following complication of an old arthritic condition.

Virtually unknown in 1932 when President Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed him Secretary of the Interior, Ickes had become one of the most turbulent figures in politics by 1946, when he resigned in a huff to President Truman.

"A unique figure in American public life is lost to the nation," President Truman commented last night, adding:

"He was without a true patriot and a many-sided citizen whose passing leaves a void in our national life not easily filled." Funeral services are scheduled for 2:30 p. m. Wednesday at All Souls' (Unitarian) Church in Washington, with the Rev. Paul J. Perkins, of King's Chapel, Boston, Mass., presiding. Burial will be at Sandy Spring, Md.

Headed PWA
During the turbulent depression years of the 1930's Ickes was head of the Public Works Administration, overseeing—sometimes down to the last penny—more than seven billion dollars worth of public building.

His bitter feud with the late Harry Hopkins, President Roosevelt's close friend and head of the Works Progress Administration, made New Deal history. Of himself, Ickes once remarked:

"I've known for a long time that I'm not loved with the fervor to which I'm entitled. If a man worked hard at it he couldn't get a bigger list of enemies than I."

The origin of the word "curmudgeon" is unknown. According to Webster, it means "an avaricious, grasping fellow; a miser; niggard; churl."

Straus Took Issue
But even so depreciating a self-appraisal drew fire. Reclamation Commissioner Michael W. Straus, who served under Ickes in many capacities, said in a biographical sketch written for the Associated Press:

"No real curmudgeon, even self-labeled, could survive to serve in the cabinet of the President of the United States longer than any other living mortal."

"A rare combination of distant vision and immediate shrewdness, daring and doggedness, wrapped in a bristling gruffness used as a protective shroud for basic understanding, brought that privilege to Harold L. Ickes."

Straus said that Ickes, as World War II petroleum administrator, carried fuel conservation to the extreme, typical of his reputation as "Honest Hal." He jotted down license numbers of speeding cars and turned them in to police.

Could No Longer Stay
When Ickes resigned from President Truman's cabinet he said he could no longer stay and "retain my self respect." Crux of the dispute was the President's nomination of Edwin W. Pauley, an oil man, to be undersecretary of the Navy. Vigorously opposed by Ickes, the nomination was later dropped at Pauley's request.

After his resignation, Ickes authored a syndicated column and a magazine series. His name continued to be linked with public issues, although in recent years he grew comparatively quiet.

Mrs. Ickes, the former Jane Dahlman, said the funeral would be simple, in keeping with her husband's wishes. He suggested "characteristically," she said, that friends might contribute to an arthritic aid foundation instead of flowers.

Ickes was born March 15, 1874, near Hollidaysburg in Blair county, Pa. He was graduated from the University of Chicago with a bachelor's degree and entered newspaper work. Later he took a law course and began practice in 1907.

The interior secretaryship was his first public office. Other survivors are two sons and a daughter. The first Mrs. Ickes, the former Anna Wilmarth Thompson, died in 1935. Ickes remarried three years later.

A son of the first marriage, Raymond W. Ickes, is a lawyer in San Francisco. Children of the second marriage are Harold McEwen Ickes, 12, and Elizabeth, 10.

Rev. Benjamin C. Warren
Notice of the death of the Rev. Benjamin Clark Warren, who served as pastor of St. James Methodist Church in this city from 1897 to 1898, at Rehoboth Beach, Del., has been received in this city. He resided at 14 Park avenue, Rehoboth Beach, Del., since his retirement from the ministry in 1932. The Rev. Mr. Warren came from the Wilmington Conference in 1890 after serving as pastor at Felton in 1882, Royal Oak from 1883 to 1884, Annapolis from 1885 to 1886 and Deal Island from 1887 to 1889. After coming to the New York Conference he served at Sheffield from 1890 to 1892 and from 1893 to 1896 at Pawling. From 1897 through 1898 he was pastor at St. James Church in this city, going from here to Union where he was pastor from 1899 to 1901. From 1902 through 1904 he was at the Washington Street Methodist Church in Poughkeepsie. It was during his ministry in Poughkeepsie that he wrote a book "In the Land of the Romburg which created quite a stir. Members of his congregation made charges that characters in this book were drawn from the congregation and an action ensued. The book was quite critical of some of the action of the characters and created widespread concern. The book was dedicated to his wife, Lydia Carpenter Warren, and the scene of the activities was in Quindauquah which people said was intended to represent Poughkeepsie. From Poughkeepsie he went to Centenary in New York where he remained from 1905 to 1906, going to St. John's Church in Newburgh where he remained from 1907 to 1911. In 1912 through 1914 he was pastor at St. Paul's Church in Peekskill. From 1915 through 1923 he was at the Eighteenth Street Church in New York and the next two years he was pastor at Chatham. In 1929 he went to Cold Springs where he remained until his retirement in 1932. At the time of his retirement in 1932 he had completed 50 years in the ministry and on March 13, 1932 when he retired from active ministry he was presented with a scroll at a reception in the town hall attended by over 2,000 people from all denominations. The scroll, a hand-penned parchment, was signed by representatives of all religious schools and denominations. Following his retirement from the Methodist Church in the Highlands at Cold Springs he went to Delaware to lead a retired life. He was past 90 at the time of his death.

Will Demand Action
Paris, Feb. 4 (AP)—The Asian-Arab countries announced today they will demand that the United Nations Security Council take up the question of Tunisia. A spokesman said the demand would be made by the Asia-Arab states acting as a group. Ahmad Shukairy of Syria, assistant secretary general of the Arab League, said the step had been decided upon because of continued unrest in France's great North African protectorates.

Thousands Hear Evangelist
Washington, Feb. 4 (AP)—Thousands gathered at the steps of the national capitol yesterday heard Evangelist Billy Graham say he could be elected president "on a platform calling the people back to God." The young preacher delivered two sermons during an hour-long meeting broadcast coast-to-coast by the ABC radio network. He spoke from the spot presidents take the oath of office. The crowd was estimated variously at from 20,000 to 45,000.

Leaves by Plane
Taipei, Formosa, Feb. 4 (AP)—Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, chief of the U. S. military assistance advisory group to the Chinese Nationalists, left by plane today for Washington for consultation.

About the Folks

Morris Sets Up Shop

Washington, Feb. 4 (AP)—Newbold Morris, the Truman Administration's Republican "cleanup" man, set up shop for his corruption-in-government investigation today, laughing off a barrage of criticism from members of his own party. The six foot three and one-half inch New York lawyer likened the congressional heckling to the hazing inflicted on newcomers at many schools, and declared: "This is, you know, an election year and I intend to keep my sense of humor. If Rosenberg, Lilienthal and Acheson can take it, so can I."

Date Is Awarded

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—Kansas City was awarded one date—March 29—of the Olympic basketball trials in a compromise move announced today by the U. S. Olympic Committee. The other three days of the trials will be held in New York's Madison Square Garden, March 29, 31 and April 1.

Little Help Ahead For New York

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 4 (AP)—Mayor Impellitteri comes to the capitol today to ask the Republican state administration for $63,800,000 in extra state aid for New York city and the power to collect $222,100,000 more in local taxes.

Impellitteri was not expected to get much from GOP legislative leaders, who had to forgo a desired state tax cut in order to balance Governor Dewey's proposed record budget of $1,093,000,000.

Some Republicans speculated that Impellitteri would get nothing more than permission to continue to levy the politically onerous three per cent city sales tax, which expires June 30.

Others indicated they would favor state reimbursement of some city welfare expenditures now borne solely by the city and permission for the city to levy a new one-half of one per cent county real estate tax on a temporary basis.

Legislative Matters. Meanwhile, on the legislative front:

1—Democratic Assemblyman Philip J. Schuler of Brooklyn proposed that New York adopt a preferential presidential primary in which enrolled voters actually would vote for a White House nominee as well as presidential convention delegates. The "preference" vote would not be binding on the delegates.

2—The Democratic minority called for repeal of the labor-donated Hughes-Brees amendments to the unemployment insurance law, which the Democrats say favors "big business" and "seriously endangers" solvency of the jobless insurance pool.

3—Republican Senator Thomas C. Desmond of Newburgh urged that the Legislature ban the refilling of sleeping pill prescriptions except on the specific authority of a physician.

Sleeping pill addiction, Desmond contends, could lead to a craving for narcotics.

Australia's Commonwealth Constitution was largely modeled on the Constitution of the United States.

Easier to Burn House

Bell, Calif., Feb. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Kathleen Tossey took a look at her untidy house, she told police, and concluded it would be easier to set fire to the place than clean it. Police said she did just that. They said that after firemen were summoned and quelled the flames, she told them she had tossed a box of burning matches into a pile of paper napkins. She then went downstairs and relaxed by engaging in a telephone conversation. Mrs. Tossey is in jail in lieu of $2,000 bond on a charge of arson.

Grain Shortages Found in Texas

Washington, Feb. 4 (AP)—Congressmen probing the government's grain storage program reported that, in Texas alone, they turned up shortages valued at $3,820,000.

The Agriculture Department disclosed some time ago that there were shortages. A Senate Committee also conducting an investigation was told recently the Texas discrepancies might hit four million dollars.

A House Appropriations Subcommittee, headed by Rep. Whitten (D-Miss.) released its report yesterday, together with a transcript of closed hearings. It said staff investigators found Texas elevators and warehouses short 629,305 bushels of wheat and 81,488,500 pounds of other grain they were supposed to have in storage. Total value was fixed at $3,820,000.

The group said it was turning over its findings to the Senate subcommittee.

Accepted Gratuities
It also reported that at least 20 employees in the Agriculture Department's production and marketing administration accepted gratuities from firms with which they were doing grain storage business.

Listed gifts ranged from help in getting a car at discount to a medium sized fruit cake. Consequences varied from dismissal to letters of caution.

The subcommittee criticized the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC), the Agriculture Department agency which handles grain storage. It said the CCC had failed to check facilities for storing the grain and had paid big sums to private groups which had leased facilities from the government at fees much lower than those they collected.

The grain was bought and stored as part of the farm price support program.

Little Help Ahead For New York

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 4 (AP)—Mayor Impellitteri comes to the capitol today to ask the Republican state administration for $63,800,000 in extra state aid for New York city and the power to collect $222,100,000 more in local taxes.

Impellitteri was not expected to get much from GOP legislative leaders, who had to forgo a desired state tax cut in order to balance Governor Dewey's proposed record budget of $1,093,000,000.

Some Republicans speculated that Impellitteri would get nothing more than permission to continue to levy the politically onerous three per cent city sales tax, which expires June 30.

Others indicated they would favor state reimbursement of some city welfare expenditures now borne solely by the city and permission for the city to levy a new one-half of one per cent county real estate tax on a temporary basis.

Legislative Matters

Meanwhile, on the legislative front: 1—Democratic Assemblyman Philip J. Schupler of Brooklyn proposed that New York adopt a preferential presidential primary in which enrolled voters actually would vote for a White House nominee as well as presidential convention delegates. The "preferential" vote would not be binding on the delegates.

2—The Democratic minority called for repeal of the labor-denounced Hughes-Brees amendments to the unemployment insurance law, which the Democrats say favors "big business" and "seriously endangers" solvency of the jobless insurance pool.

3—Republican Senator Thomas C. Desmond of Newburgh urged that the Legislature ban the refilling of sleeping pill prescriptions except on the specific authority of a physician.

Sleeping pill addiction, Desmond contends, could lead to a craving for narcotics.

Australia's Commonwealth Constitution was largely modeled on the Constitution of the United States.

Plans were made for the next meeting which will be held at the Town of Esopus Auditorium March 26. A Cub Scout demonstration will be held. Awards for having the most parents present was won by Room 3, Mrs. Irwin-Rightmyer, teacher. Principal Robert Graves, chairman of the program committee, showed slides of early stages of common childhood diseases and a film, Travel Through Our Country in a Greyhound Bus, was enjoyed. Mrs. Donald Swan and her committee served refreshments and a social hour followed.

Easier to Burn House

Bell, Calif., Feb. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Kathleen Tossey took a look at her untidy house, she told police, and concluded it would be easier to set fire to the place than clean it. Police said she did just that. They said that after firemen were summoned and quelled the flames, she told them she had tossed a box of burning matches into a pile of paper napkins she had arranged in the attic. She then went downstairs and relaxed by engaging in a telephone conversation. Mrs. Tossey is in jail in lieu of $2,000 bond on a charge of arson.

A CODE OF LIVING

In these days when the evidence points to a widespread weakening of the American moral fibre, with major crimes climbing faster even than the increase in population, it is encouraging to note that a great moral force in America is growing even stronger.

The Boy Scouts of America celebrates its 42nd birthday during Boy Scout Week, February 6 through 12. It is an occasion when we can pause and consider its mark on the youth of the nation. Since 1910, more than nineteen million American boys and men have been influenced by this Scout Oath:

"On my honor I will do my best—
To do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout Law.
To help other people at all times.
To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

For its young men members, known as Explorers, the Boy Scouts of America has this dedication pledge, which could well be adopted by all Americans:

"I will live the Scout Oath and Law. I will be familiar with the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, and the Bill of Rights of the United States of America. I will respect and obey the law in order to have security and freedom.

"I will share the responsibility of my home, school, church, neighborhood, and community; and when legally of age, I will register and vote in all elections. I will deal fairly and kindly with my fellow-citizens of whatever race or creed, in the spirit of the Scout Law and America's tradition of equality of opportunity.

"I will work to preserve our American heritage of liberty and responsibility. I acknowledge that the privileges we enjoy were won by the hard work, and sacrifices, faith and clear thinking of our forefathers. I will do all in my power to pass on a better America to the next generation."

Today over 2,900,000 boys and men are actively enrolled in over 80,000 different units. Scouting is indeed a great asset to the nation. May it continue to succeed in influencing the lives of countless more boys as you go "Forward . . . On Liberty's Team."

GNAWED NAILS

A psychologist who has studied the matter has concluded that one reason some people bite their fingernails is that they wish to inflict punishment on themselves for real or imagined guilt. He said that there was a definite correlation between maladjustment and nail-biting in some of the younger subjects he studied. Apparently some maladjusted ones take out their frustrations on their cuticle.

The psychologist may have a sound theory. But there is at least one other school of nail-biters. These are the nervous people who have been with us always, but who are growing in number these days. Life becomes faster and faster and it sometimes seems that the list of things to be nervous about increases every day.

With planes traveling faster than sound, traffic fatalities mounting so that a man must worry about whether he will reach the other side when he starts across the street, and the ever-present possibility that the atom bomb will send civilization skyrocketing up in a mushroom of radioactive smoke, it is a wonder that there is a fingernail left in the world.

Employees of firms employing fewer than four workers would be brought within the protection of the unemployment insurance law under a unanimous recommendation made by the State Advisory Council on Placement and Unemployment Insurance. The proposal would add 300,000 employees to the 175,000 now subject to the law and a half million employees to the 6,500,000 now protected.

One thing which appears to be beyond mending once it has been broken is a dollar bill. There are never enough pieces left.

Although only one-quarter of the total cars travel at night and pedestrian volume is substantially reduced, the hours between dusk and dawn are still the most dangerous

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE POSITION OF DOUGLAS MACARTHUR.
The fact is that in many parts of the United States a notable grass-roots movement has appeared for "MacArthur for President." In some places, the support for the candidacy of General Douglas MacArthur is stronger than that for any other candidate.

To all who have inquired of him concerning this, General MacArthur has replied that he is not a candidate and that of those who are currently in the field, he favors Senator Robert A. Taft.

It has been suggested by some that General MacArthur assert that he would not under any circumstances be a candidate. It is not in the nature of General MacArthur to presume what he would do in circumstances of which he currently has no knowledge. However, it is apparent in all conversations that he is sincere in his lack of aspiration for the post and in his support of Taft.

In his letter withdrawing his name from the New Hampshire primaries, General MacArthur makes his position quite clear:

"In reflecting upon my own responsibility of citizenship, I have felt that I could contribute infinitely more to the high purposes involved if not personally seeking political office through the entry or use of my name in connection with any State primary."

But in that same letter, he goes further to define the type of President whom he would prefer. This paragraph, it would seem to me, might form a model for candidates of all parties this year or any other year. I quote:

"Every American citizen shares equally the constitutional responsibility of doing all in his power to restore and preserve our sacred American free institutions and to secure a reorientation of policy patterned to serve our impelling national needs and requirements. To this high purpose the immediate demand upon the citizen lies in the selection of a national leadership of demonstrated capability in the science of civil government, of unimpeachable dedication to our country's constitutional precepts and great traditions, and one whose wisdom is founded upon broad administrative experience, with the moral courage to face and resolve the public issues of the day without compromise of principle."

General MacArthur is a literary stylist and uses words to express rather than to repress thought. Thus the use of the phrase, "restore . . . our sacred American free institutions," clearly means that they have been damaged. It is an overt assertion that the Roosevelt and Truman administrations have failed in the maintenance of a basic American philosophy.

Similarly, his phrase, "a national leadership of demonstrated capability in the science of civil government," excludes General Dwight Eisenhower, who has never had anything to do with civil government in this country. It comes as close to a direct attack on Eisenhower's candidacy as MacArthur has yet made. Senator Tobey correctly caught the fitness of this idea as applied to General Eisenhower.

I am certain that this statement is only laying a basis for similar and more pointed attacks, ending in the use of General Eisenhower's name, although General MacArthur is reticent about starting a five-star general's battle as part of a political campaign. He relieved General Eisenhower when the latter was a junior officer associated with him in the Philippines. He will not discuss that or Eisenhower's activities in connection with the Bonus March, for which Herbert Hoover and MacArthur have had to accept full credit or discredit, whichever it may be.

Further, the use of the phrase, "without compromise of principle," is General MacArthur's way of attacking "McTooinism," particularly in relation to the foreign policy. Before this campaign is over, the meeting at the President's office on April 6, 1951, on the subject of the dismissal of General MacArthur, will have to be discussed openly. The question will have to be considered as to who was there, what was said, and why General MacArthur was dismissed. This is still a closed book and the General has never been told precisely why he was dismissed.

In this connection, "The Freeman" magazine is now issuing a supplement entitled "Prelude to Disaster," dealing with the dismissal of General Douglas MacArthur, which I prepared from the record of the Russell Committee report. This establishes beyond doubt that the Joint Chiefs of Staff agreed to MacArthur's program for handling the Korean War.)

The political position of General MacArthur cannot be ignored, as it now has the support of large segments of the Republican Party and influences large numbers of Democrats. What it will amount to in delegates and votes has, of course, yet to be seen.

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

TREATMENT OF ALCOHOLISM

Most research workers on alcoholism believe that the method used by Alcoholics Anonymous to cure the patient is the best method, because the alcoholic admits his need of help and prays daily for this need and stumbles along as periodic drinkers. It is in these cases that the drug antabuse may be effective because antabuse gives the alcoholic chemical insurance against taking that first drink—the drink that may lead to a disastrous binge. Thus, antabuse builds a chemical fence around the alcoholic.

At a meeting held under the auspices of the New York Medical Committee on Alcoholism, the manufacturers of antabuse in this country reported that the drug had been tested in more than 100 clinics in the United States and Canada by more than 800 qualified physicians and with more than 5,000 patients. "Using antabuse, 50 per cent of these alcoholics have achieved permanent abstinence; another 25 per cent made basic improvement, the condition necessary for rehabilitation."

Antabuse compels the patient to remain sober as long as he continues to take the drug. The very fact that the alcoholic takes the drug shows that he wants to be cured. Since he takes antabuse and thus remains sober, the doctor has his real chance to discuss the matter with the patient and learn his problems. "Excessive drinking is always a symptom of some underlying disturbance which may be medical or social or emotional or, more often, all three combined."

Having stopped the drinking, it can be learned why the patient started to drink excessively in the first place. "This can be deep psychoanalysis, psycho or emotional treatment, group treatment, medical rehabilitation, and a firm contact with Alcoholics Anonymous."

Antabuse is a small white tablet taken by mouth. No reaction or symptoms occur until the patient takes even a small amount of alcohol. The reaction then consists of intense flushing, perspiration, difficult breathing, palpitation of the heart, and nausea. Rather than undergo this severe reaction, the patient abstains from alcohol. Treatment should be under close supervision and never when the patient is intoxicated or without his full knowledge.

The Eternal Optimist

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — What the average citizen may not entirely realize about the huge new budget facing the nation is that 83 per cent of it is for the military. This includes mutual security aid to Europe, primarily military, and care of veterans.

Thus a 17 per cent chunk of the taxpayers' money remains for civilian purposes, including the Coast Guard, which is semi-military. The FBI, Secret Service and other domestic policing agencies of government. While some further pruning may be possible in the civilian branches, especially in regard to the pork-barrel, rivers-and-harbors bill which no Congressman wants to cut, nevertheless, the major opportunity for saving, if any is to be accomplished, must be from the military's 83 per cent chunk.

Yet the military have been least cooperative about even the most rudimentary principles of efficient spending.

Take merely the simple question of bidding against each other. One of the great pleas for unifying the army and navy was that it would save money; that the two branches of the armed services would pool their buying, not duplicate a list of thousands of items, such as towels, blankets, rope, pulleys, wrenches, all about the same whether used in the army or navy.

Thus, however, has not happened. Instead, the working together on army-navy buying, there is now a third competitive service, the air force. It is true that much air force material is purchased for it by the army, but efficient, unified buying, as done by a private business firm, just does not exist.

Buying Carpenter's Squares

For instance, the army to some extent competes with itself. Its catalog of commodities contained six different numbers for each army branch—the Signal Corps, Ordnance, Transportation, Engineers, Chemical Warfare, and Quartermaster Corps. Under this arrangement, such an item as a carpenter's square has six different numbers, according to the specification of the Signal Corps, Ordnance, Engineers, etc.

On top of this, the air force has to have a seventh number for the commodities it wants. And the cost of reprinting army catalogs to add the air force's seventh number is about $150,000.

Congressman Herbert of Louisiana, now studying armed service inefficiency, estimates that millions of dollars could be saved by revamping this antiquated system of listing different competing prices for the army-air force material.

Take the relatively simple question of buying carpenter's squares. There are only 12 inches in a foot, whether it be an air force square, a navy square, or an army square. Nevertheless, a carpenter's square for the Quartermaster's Corps costs 65 cents; for the navy $2, for the army $1.90; for the Signal Corps $2.10; for the Army Engineers $1.48; for the Air Force $1.40; and for the Army Transportation Corps originally $4.35, though this was hurriedly corrected last week to $2.19.

I have seen all these carpenter's squares. They are all the same size, and as far as I can see almost identical. They all have 12 inches to the foot. Yet the price is different. Thus the mere paper work of buying separately and maintaining separate numbers in catalogs take extra time and money.

Closed-Door Sessions

The Senate Interior Committee held a super-secret meeting the other day and voted to stop printing secret transcripts in an effort to "keep Drew Pearson from finding out" what goes on behind closed doors.

As a test, no secret transcript was kept on the meeting that decided to ban secret transcripts. However, this column is able to report what happened.

Able Senators Clint Anderson of New Mexico and Gene Milliken of Colorado fussed and fumed over this column's word-for-word reports of what they had said behind closed doors. Philosphic Chairman Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming agreed that it was an outrage, but added: "I have interviewed every member of the staff, and I am sure they are all in the clear."

"I know the source of the leak, and it wasn't anyone on the staff," snorted Anderson. He accused the official reporters who record the committee sessions of leaking.

(Note: You're not even warm, senator.)

O'Mahoney then suggested banning these official reports. If no record is kept of closed-door meetings, he reasoned, Pearson will have trouble reporting what happened.

But the usually genial Gene Milliken was pessimistic. "I'll bet you two to one that all that will result from this will be a story in Pearson's column that the committee was stumped."

Note—The reason this columnist frequently reports what goes on at closed-door committee sessions is that more and more important business affecting the nation is transacted at these sessions.

It used to be that the most important debates took place publicly on the floor of the House or Senate. But as the work of the United States Government has grown bigger and more complex, it has become necessary to transfer vitally important debates to committee rooms, which frequently are held behind closed doors with no representatives of the public present.

The chief reason for these closed-door sessions is that senators and congressmen don't always want to be held accountable to their constituents for what they say in committee meetings. This column, incidentally, has learned over backward not to publish news which even remotely violates national security.

Big Test of President Viewed in What He Does About Wrong Political Influence

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 4—Candor is something the American people expect from the President of the United States at all times. They look to the man in the White House to be frank and sincere and to frown on the use of political influence especially where public funds are concerned.

The acid test of a President's moral leadership is what he does about political influence when it is wronged for private benefit or special privilege.

Last summer when a question of alleged improper influence arose in connection with the activities of William Boyle, then Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, President Truman issued a public statement dated August 9 in which he said:

"I have examined into the facts concerning William Boyle's alleged relationship to RFC loans to the American Lithofold Corporation of St. Louis, Missouri. The facts I have obtained indicated that Mr. Boyle had nothing to do with the approval of these loans by the RFC."

"I think it would be highly improper for the chairman of a national political committee to use his contacts with government officials for his own private gain. I would not condone such conduct for a moment."

Then on October 13 Mr. Boyle made public a letter of resignation as chairman of the Democratic National Committee citing reasons of ill health. He insisted that he had done nothing wrong and quoted a Republican member of the Senate investigating committee as saying there was "no evidence of illegality or moral turpitude" on the part of Mr. Boyle disclosed in the record of the committee.

Now comes the Senate subcommittee with a unanimous report which says in part:

"There is no conclusive evidence that the first RFC loan to the American Lithofold Corp. in the amount of $80,000 was granted because of the intervention of Mr. Boyle, who at the time was an attorney for the company and an official of the Democratic National Committee. Nor is there conclusive evidence that the loan was made as the result of any other improper influence. However, the circumstances surrounding the making of the loan, including the declaration of the loan at all lower levels in the RFC and the reversal of the board's earlier action after Mr. Boyle made an appointment with officials of the firm with the RFC Chairman Hise, give rise to the reasonable assumption that the loan would not have been made but for the telephone call from Mr. Boyle to Mr. Hise. Furthermore, the subcommittee is of the opinion that had not the first RFC loan been made to American Lithofold, it is very doubtful that the second loan of $565,000 would have been made in the fall of 1949 . . .

"The testimony concerning the payment of the legal fees to Mr. Boyle by the American Lithofold Corp. is contradictory . . .

"However, the circumstances surrounding the employment of Mr. Boyle and later the retention of his former legal associate, Mr. Max Siskind, as attorney for the American Lithofold Corp., together with the unbusinesslike and unprofessional methods used in transferring the law practice from Mr. Boyle to Mr. Siskind in April 1949 gives rise to the suspicion that Boyle and Siskind continued to share in the profits of a lucrative law business after Boyle became a paid official of the Democratic National Committee. In the light of these facts it could be inferred that Mr. Boyle shared indirectly in the $14,500 in legal fees which the American Lithofold Corp. paid to Mr. Siskind."

"The subcommittee did not find that Mr. Boyle engaged in any activities which were either illegal or immoral. However, when all of his actions as disclosed by this investigation are considered, it is evident that Mr. Boyle failed to follow that course of conduct which the public rightly expects of the chairman or other officials of a major political party. Officials of the major political parties, whether paid or unpaid, hold positions in the nature of a quasi-public trust and they must therefore follow the same standards of conduct which are demanded of public officials. They must not only refrain from acts which are illegal, immoral or patently improper, but as is expected of a public official, they must also avoid the appearance of wrongdoing by avoiding that type of activity which might lead the public to believe or suspect that chicanery is taking place. Mr. Boyle's conduct was not such that it would dispel the appearance of wrongdoing."

In view of the above was President Truman's statement at his press conference of August 9 a candid one? What are his views now as to the conclusions reached by the Senate subcommittee? Was the President duped? The public is entitled to an explanation.

"Perhaps you can tell me if there is a rule that covers this situation," requests a Henderson, Kentucky reader.

"My partner held three nines, three sevens, two sixes, two fives, and a deuce. We needed 90 points to go down."

"The opponent to my partner's right discarded a five. The discard pile was quite large. My partner put down her entire hand, counting 85 points, and took the five at the top of the discard pile to complete a count of 90 points."

"The opponents said it was not legal to put down every card from the hand. They said that if she melded all the cards in her hand she would be out, because the cards in the discard pile cannot be considered in her hand. However, she was not allowed to meld out without a canasta."

"My partner and I maintain that when she uses the top card of the discard pile the rest of the cards in that pile automatically become part of her hand."

A CODE OF LIVING

In these days when the evidence points to a widespread weakening of the American moral fibre, with major crimes climbing faster even than the increase in population, it is encouraging to note that a great moral force in America is growing even stronger.

The Boy Scouts of America celebrates its 42nd birthday during Boy Scout Week, February 6 through 12. It is an occasion when we can pause and consider its mark on the youth of the nation. Since 1910, more than nineteen million American boys and men have been influenced by this Scout Oath:

"On my honor I will do my best—
To do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout Law.
To help other people at all times.
To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

For its young men members, known as Explorers, the Boy Scouts of America has this dedication pledge, which could well be adopted by all Americans:

"I will live the Scout Oath and Law. I will be familiar with the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, and the Bill of Rights of the United States of America. I will respect and obey the law in order to have security and freedom.

"I will share the responsibility of my home, school, church, neighborhood, and community; and when legally of age, I will register and vote in all elections. I will deal fairly and kindly with my fellow-citizens of whatever race or creed, in the spirit of the Scout Law and America's tradition of equality of opportunity.

"I will work to preserve our American heritage of liberty and responsibility. I acknowledge that the privileges we enjoy were won by the hard work, and sacrifices, faith and clear thinking of our forefathers. I will do all in my power to pass on a better America to the next generation."

Today over 2,900,000 boys and men are actively enrolled in over 80,000 different units. Scouting is indeed a great asset to the nation. May it continue to succeed in influencing the lives of countless more boys as you go "Forward . . . On Liberty's Team."

GNAWED NAILS

A psychologist who has studied the matter has concluded that one reason some people bite their fingernails is that they wish to inflict punishment on themselves for real or imagined guilt. He said that there was a definite correlation between maladjustment and nail-biting in some of the younger subjects he studied. Apparently some maladjusted ones take out their frustrations on their cuticle.

The psychologist may have a sound theory. But there is at least one other school of nail-biters. These are the nervous people who have been with us always, but who are growing in number these days. Life becomes faster and faster and it sometimes seems that the list of things to be nervous about increases every day.

With planes traveling faster than sound, traffic fatalities mounting so that a man must worry about whether he will reach the other side when he starts across the street, and the ever-present possibility that the atom bomb will send civilization skyrocketing up in a mushroom of radioactive smoke, it is a wonder that there is a fingernail left in the world.

Employees of firms employing fewer than four workers would be brought within the protection of the unemployment insurance law under a unanimous recommendation made by the State Advisory Council on Placement and Unemployment Insurance. The proposal would add 300,000 employers to the 175,000 now subject to the law and a half million employees to the 6,500,000 now protected.

One thing which appears to be beyond mending once it has been broken is a dollar bill. There are never enough pieces left.

Although only one-quarter of the total cars travel at night and pedestrian volume is substantially reduced, the hours between dusk and dawn are still the most dangerous

THE POSITION OF DOUGLAS MACARTHUR

The fact is that in many parts of the United States a notable grass-roots movement has appeared for "MacArthur for President." In some places, the support for the candidacy of General Douglas MacArthur is stronger than that for any other candidate.

To all who have inquired of him concerning this, General MacArthur has replied that he is not a candidate and that of those who are currently in the field, he favors Senator Robert A. Taft.

It has been suggested by some that General MacArthur assert that he would not under any circumstances be a candidate. It is not in the nature of General MacArthur to presume what he would do in circumstances of which he currently has no knowledge. However, it is apparent in all conversations that he is sincere in his lack of aspiration for the post and in his support of Taft.

In his letter withdrawing his name from the New Hampshire primaries, General MacArthur makes his position quite clear:

"In reflecting upon my own responsibility of citizenship, I have felt that I could contribute infinitely more to the high purposes involved if not personally seeking political office through the entry or use of my name in connection with any State primary."

But in that same letter, he goes further to define the type of President whom he would prefer. This paragraph, it would seem to me, might form a model for candidates of all parties this year or any other year. I quote:

"Every American citizen shares equally the constitutional responsibility of doing all in his power to restore and preserve our sacred American free institutions and to secure a reorientation of policy patterned to serve our impelling national needs and requirements. To this high purpose the immediate demand upon the citizen lies in the selection of a national leadership of demonstrated capability in the science of civil government, of unimpeachable dedication to our country's constitutional precepts and great traditions, and one whose wisdom is founded upon broad administrative experience, with the moral courage to face and resolve the public issues of the day without compromise of principle."

General MacArthur is a literary stylist and uses words to express rather than to repress thought. Thus the use of the phrase, "restore . . . our sacred American free institutions," clearly means that they have been damaged. It is an overt assertion that the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations have failed in the maintenance of a basic American philosophy.

Similarly, his phrase, "a national leadership of demonstrated capability in the science of civil government," excludes General Dwight Eisenhower, who has never had anything to do with civil government in this country. It comes as close to a direct attack on Eisenhower's candidacy as MacArthur has yet made. Senator Tobey correctly caught the fitness of this idea as applied to General Eisenhower.

I am certain that this statement is only laying a basis for similar and more pointed attacks, ending in the use of General Eisenhower's name, although General MacArthur is reticent about starting a five-star general's battle as part of a political campaign. He relieved General Eisenhower when the latter was a junior officer associated with him in the Philippines. He will not discuss that or Eisenhower's activities in connection with the Bonus March, for which Herbert Hoover and MacArthur have had to accept full credit or discredit, whichever it may be.

Further, the use of the phrase, "without compromise of principle," is General MacArthur's way of attacking "Me-tooism," particularly in relation to the foreign policy. Before this campaign is over, the meeting at the President's office on April 6, 1951, on the subject of the dismissal of General MacArthur, will have to be discussed openly. The question will have to be considered as to who was there, what was said, and why General MacArthur was dismissed. This is still a closed book and the General has never been told precisely why he was dismissed.

In this connection, "The Freeman" magazine is now issuing a supplement entitled "Prelude to Disaster," dealing with the dismissal of General Douglas MacArthur, which I prepared from the record of the Russell Committee reports. This establishes beyond doubt that the Joint Chiefs of Staff agreed to MacArthur's program for handling the Korean War.

The political position of General MacArthur cannot be ignored, as it now has the support of large segments of the Republican Party and influences large numbers of Democrats. What it will do to delegates and votes has, of course, yet to be seen.

TREATMENT OF ALCOHOLISM

Most research workers on alcoholism believe that the method used by Alcoholics Anonymous to cure the patient is the best method, because the alcoholic admits his need of help and prays daily for it. There are some alcoholics who will not admit this need and stumble along as periodic drinkers. It is in these cases that the drug antabuse may be effective because antabuse gives the alcoholic chemical insurance against taking that first drink—the drink that may lead to a disastrous binge. Thus, antabuse builds a chemical fence around the alcoholic.

At a meeting held under the auspices of the New York Medical Committee on Alcoholism, the manufacturers of antabuse in this country reported that the drug had been tested in more than 100 clinics in the United States and Canada by more than 800 qualified physicians and with more than 5,000 patients. "Using antabuse, 50 per cent of these alcoholics have achieved permanent abstinence; another 25 per cent made basic improvement, the condition necessary for rehabilitation."

Antabuse compels the patient to remain sober as long as he continues to take the drug. The very fact that the alcoholic takes the drug shows that he wants to be cured. Since he takes antabuse and thus remains sober, the doctor has his real chance to discuss the matter with the patient and learn his problems. "Excessive drinking is always a symptom of some underlying disturbance which may be medical or social or emotional or, more often, all three combined."

Having stopped the drinking, it can be learned why the patient started to drink excessively in the first place. "This can be deep psychoanalysis, psycho or emotional treatment, group treatment, medical rehabilitation, and a firm contact with Alcoholics Anonymous."

Antabuse is a small white tablet taken by mouth. No reaction or symptoms occur until the patient takes even a small amount of alcohol. The reaction then consists of intense flushing, perspiration, difficulty breathing, palpitation of the heart, and nausea. Rather than undergo this severe reaction, the patient abstains from alcohol. Treatment should be under close supervision and never when the patient is intoxicated or without his full knowledge.

The Eternal Optimist

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — What the average citizen may not entirely realize about the huge new budget facing the nation is that 83 per cent of it is for the military. This includes mutual security aid to Europe, primarily military, and care of veterans.

Thus a 17 per cent chunk of the taxpayers' money remains for civilian purposes, including the Coast Guard, which is semi-military, the FBI, Secret Service and other domestic policing agencies of government. While some further pruning may be possible in the civilian branches, especially in regard to the pork-barrel, rivers-and-harbors bill which no Congressman wants to cut, nevertheless, the major opportunity for saving, if any is to be accomplished, must be from the military's 83 per cent chunk.

Yet the military have been at least cooperative about even the most rudimentary principles of efficient spending. Take merely the simple question of bidding against each other. One of the great pleas for unifying the army and navy was that it would save money; that the two branches of the armed services would pool their buying, not duplicate a list of thousands of items, such as towels, blankets, rope, pulleys, wrenches, all about the same whether used in the army or navy.

This, however, has not happened. Instead of working together on army-navy buying, there is now a thick competitive service, the air force. It is true that much air force material is purchased for it by the army, but efficient, unified buying, as done by a private business firm, just does not exist.

Buying Carpenter's Squares
For instance, the army to some extent competes with itself. Its catalog of commodities contains six different numbers for each service branch—the Signal Corps, Ordnance, Transportation, Engineers, Chemical Warfare, and Quartermaster Corps. Under this arrangement, such an item as a carpenter's square has six different numbers, according to the specification of the Signal Corps, Ordnance, Engineers, etc.

In top of this, the air force has to have a seventh number for the commodities it wants. And the cost of reprinting army catalogs to add the air force's seventh number is about $150,000.

Congressman Herbert of Louisiana, now studying armed service inefficiency, estimates that millions of dollars could be saved by revamping this antiquated system of listing different competing prices for the army-air force material.

Take the relatively simple question of buying carpenter's squares. There are only 12 inches in a foot, whether it be an air force square, a navy square, or an army square. Nevertheless, a carpenter's square for the Quartermaster Corps costs 65 cents; for the navy $2; for the army $1.90; for the Signal Corps $2.10; for the Army Engineers $1.48; for the Air Force $1.40; and for the Army Transportation Corps originally $4.35, though this was hurriedly corrected last week to $2.19.

I have seen all these carpenter's squares. They are all the same size and as far as I can see almost identical. They all have 12 inches to the foot. Yet the price is different. Thus the mere paper work of buying separately and maintaining separate numbers in catalogs take extra time and money.

This may sound like a small saving. But when you multiply this inefficiency by millions of items and get up to big expensive weapons, it runs into tremendous amounts of money.

In the light of these facts it could be inferred that Mr. Boyle shared indirectly in the $14,500 in legal fees which the American Lithofold Corp. paid to Mr. Siskind.

"The subcommittee did not find that Mr. Boyle engaged in any activities which were either illegal or immoral. However, when all of his actions as disclosed by this investigation are considered, it is evident that Mr. Boyle failed to follow that course of conduct which the public rightly expects of the chairman or other officials of a major political party. Officials of the major political parties, whether paid or unpaid, hold positions in the nature of a quasi-public trust and they must therefore follow the same standards of conduct which are demanded of public officials. They must not only refrain from acts which are illegal, immoral or patently improper, but as is expected of a public official, they must also avoid the appearance of wrongdoing by avoiding that type of activity which might lead the public to believe or suspect that chicanery is taking place. Mr. Boyle's conduct was not such that it would dispel the appearance of wrongdoing."

In view of the above was President Truman's statement at his press conference of August 9 a candid one? What are his views now as to the conclusions reached by the Senate subcommittee? Was the President duped? The public is entitled to an explanation. (Reproduction rights reserved)

SIMPLE RULE ENDS AN ARGUMENT

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

"Perhaps you can tell me if there is a rule that covers this situation," requests a Henderson, Kentucky reader.

"My partner held three nines, three sevens, two sixes, two fives, and a deuce. We needed 90 points to go down."

"The opponent to my partner's right discarded a five. The discard pile was quite large. My partner put down her entire hand, counting 85 points, and took the five at the top of the discard pile to complete the count of 90 points."

"The opponents said it was not legal to put down every card from the hand. They said that if she melded all her hand, her hand she would be out, because the cards in the discard pile cannot be considered in her hand. However, she was not allowed to meld out without a canasta."

"My partner and I maintain that when she uses the top card of the discard pile the rest of the cards in that pile automatically become part of her hand."

"Who is right?"

Questions — Answers

Q—How do scientists explain Hawaii's phenomenon, the barking sands?

A—Whenever a person walks along the dry beach at Manoa on the island of Kauai, the crunching of his footsteps sounds like the barking of dogs. Science says the grains of sand are hollow, and when rubbed together pop off with a noise which is easily mistaken for barking.

Q—What was Rudyard Kipling's famous quotation about those who served him best?

A—Kipling once wrote: "I had six honest serving men—they taught me all I knew. Their names were Where and What and When—and Why and How and Who."

So They Say...

Now I don't know where—outside of an asylum perhaps—we could find anybody who doesn't want a bigger income.

—Benjamin Fairless, president U. S. Steel Corp.

It's the attitude of your drivers. They are the best and by far the politest motorists I have seen anywhere.

—Dr. Franco Macchi, world auto tourist on American drivers.

Less than one-third of the expenditures for the cost of World War II would have created developments necessary to feed the whole world, so we would not have to stomach communism.

—President Truman.

Limited Tickets Left for Dinner To Hear Sokolsky

There are still a limited number of tickets available for the dinner being jointly sponsored by the Ulster County Republican Central Committee and the Ulster County Women's Republican Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Friday, February 15, when George E. Sokolsky, author, columnist, lecturer and industrial relations consultant will be the speaker.

The dinner will be at 7 p. m. and men as well as women will be welcomed. There has been a misunderstanding among some who believed the dinner was being sponsored by the Women's Republican Club and was for members of that club only.

"This is an opportunity to hear one of the most discussed figures on the lecture platform today and both men and women are invited," said Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, past president of the Ulster County Women's Republican Club. "The dinner is being sponsored jointly by the Central Committee and the Women's Club," said Mrs. Connelly, "and tickets have been going rapidly, only a very limited number remain and it is suggested immediate reservations be made."

Reservations may be made through the Ulster County Republican Women's Club or from Robert A. Snyder, secretary of the Ulster County Republican Central Committee at the supervisor's room in the county court house.

George Ephraim Sokolsky, columnist, radio speaker, author and lecturer, was born in Ulica, September 5, 1893, son of a Jewish rabbi who possessed a temper that occasionally is equaled by the columnist today, and, according to Sokolsky, this trait kept his father from holding posts permanently than he did. Ultimately the Sokolskys found their way to the lower east side in Manhattan, where George grew up.

Almost a Prodigy

George Sokolsky was almost a prodigy, writes Mel Heimer, for at the age of 10 he was, believe it or not, stumping for the Republican party in a Tammany Hall hotbed, as an inspired young orator.

Never athletically inclined, George concerned himself with social, civic and labor problems all through his youth, and held more than 20 jobs before finishing his journalism course at Columbia University. During those days, he probed into the I.W.W.'s, anarchists, and socialists — now and then joining in the demonstrations of whatever group he was studying.

Just as he completed college in 1917, the lid blew off the pot in Russia, and George went to that country to be in on the famous revolution as a correspondent for the "New Republic News Service."

Mail service was impossible, however, and George found himself in Petrograd out of a job. Undaunted, he finally went with the "Russian Daily News," an English language paper, as editor.

"Russia, a Disappointment" "Russia," Sokolsky says, "was a disappointment to me from the start and that disappointment was heightened when the Bolsheviks took over. They did not believe in liberty. They did not believe in individualism for the individual. They did not recognize the right to independence of thought and speech. They were despots. They were tyrants. They murdered men and women without mercy. I lived through a terror in Russia which has ever been with me an endless nightmare of horror."

In 1918 Sokolsky made his way across Siberia to Peking, where he started to work for the North China Star, to make money for his passage to America, he figured. As it was, he stayed in China for 13 years. It was there he married his first wife, English-educated, Chinese-born Rosalind Phang, who died in 1933 after bearing him a son, Eric.

Held Six Jobs At Once

The China years were busy ones, he was a foreign correspondent, editor of an engineering magazine, adviser to Chinese officials, political adviser to American business firms and many other things. Once he held as many as six jobs. Around 1930, however, a nationalistic spirit seemed to be developing in China and there was less opportunity which was as it should be, George says, for a foreigner to speak his mind or influence government.

Back in this country he began a series of lectures and writings on China and Japan, but when labor came to the fore as a national problem, he steered his guns toward the Communists in the ranks of the working people. "My experience," he says, "had proved to me that some things that human beings liked to try, do not work."

Today Sokolsky with his second wife, the former Dorothy Fiske, and his two young children reside in midtown Manhattan where he maintains his office and in summer he and his family go to Otis, Mass., where they have a summer home.

Has Many Honors

Sokolsky was awarded the degree of LL.D. from Notre Dame in 1946; the School of Mines, University of Montana, in 1948 and the degree of Litt. D. from St. Bonaventure University in 1950. He has been granted many awards and honors, is a member of Kiwanis and a member of the National Republican Club, National Press Club, Overseas Press, Grand Street Boys, Circumnavigators, N. Y., and many others. He is a director of Alumni Federation of Columbia University, a director of American Jewish League Against Communism and he is a widely known author and columnist contributing to numerous large newspapers and periodicals. His column syndicated by King Features Syndicate, is widely read.

Diplomats Increase

Washington, Feb. 4 (AP)—The number of foreign diplomatic personnel in Washington has grown from 1,000 at the start of World War 2 to 4,400. A census was taken by the Library of Congress at the request of Rep. Paul W. Shafer (R-Mich.). He just wondered how many diplomats there were here. The survey showed that the diplomats with their families total between 15,000 and 20,000 persons. The British embassy staff with 673 employees, is the largest. Russia is fifth with 129.

Check on Gold Smuggling

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—More than 30 million dollars worth of gold stolen from Canadian mines is being smuggled annually through the United States to foreign markets, U. S. Attorney Myles J. Lane says. Lane, in a statement here last night, said the gold brings twice its U. S. Canadian value on the markets abroad. He did not say how long the smuggling has been going on. The Canadian mines, Lane added, have formed a committee to work with U. S. and Canadian authorities in an effort to secure legislation combatting the illegal traffic.

Milk Co-Ops Lawyer

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—Fred P. Lee, New York and Washington attorney, has been engaged to represent various groups of operating cooperatives in their opposition to a proposed price ceiling on handling charges at country milk plants. Price ceilings at plants throughout the northeast have been urged by major milk dealers in the New York metropolitan area. These dealers have not set a price on the ceiling proposal but have asked for public hearings on the request.

Coins Are Destroyed

By law, the "pattern pieces" of a trial strike made by the U. S. Mint are now carefully destroyed. In early days, however, such coins were often preserved and thus came into the hands of collectors.

THEY'RE "AVERAGE" SWEDISH FOLKS—Pictured in Stockholm is Sweden's average family against a background of the amount of food they consume each year. The typical Swedish father has two children, 11 and seven years of age, and a wife who is a full-time housewife. His salary is the equivalent of $1850 a year in American dollars.

More Lights on Way

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—Bright lights have been promised for about 50 miles of New York city streets now plunged in complete or semi-darkness at night. Dominick F. Paduano, city commissioner of water supply, gas and electricity said yesterday that 2,500 new steel light poles are in the process of delivery. He said the new posts can be installed and maintained more cheaply than the old cast-iron type. Up to now, he added, the city has been "unable to keep up with new housing projects, new individual homes and new real estate developments."

Price Index Report

Washington, Feb. 4 (AP)—The government's wholesale price index Feb. 2 stood at 3.2 per cent below a year ago and 12.4 per cent above the pre-Korean war level. This was revealed in the Bureau of Labor Statistics report that the index rose two-tenths of one per cent during the week ended Jan. 29, reaching 176.3 per cent of the 1926 average. Increases in wholesale prices of farm products, metals and metal products were offset partially by declines in foods, textiles, building materials and chemicals, the bureau said.

Highest in the World

The modern spire of the cathedral of Ulm, Germany, is the highest in the world, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Detective Faces Charge in Death

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—New York city police say Detective Carl Hart of the Manhattan East Youth Squad must face a departmental charge in the fatal shooting of a woman companion at Hawthorne, N. Y., on Saturday.

However, police said the shooting of Mrs. Joan Davis, 33, of New York, was accidental. Hart, they said, will be charged with violating a regulation requiring policemen to safeguard their weapons.

The shooting occurred on Taconic State Parkway while Hart and Mrs. Davis were riding in an automobile with two other women and two other New York policemen. All are Negroes.

Authorities said Hart, 28, was on sick leave because of a broken finger and had gone for a ride in the country with the others. They said Hart, sitting in the back seat, tried to shift his .38 calibre gun in a shoulder holster to a more comfortable position.

Using his right hand, taken out of a cast only the day before, Hart moved the revolver clumsily

Everybody's heard about the Eiffel Tower . . .

...but do you know about Poughkeepsie's remarkable tower?

Paris' Eiffel Tower may be taller than Poughkeepsie's tower but the tower in Poughkeepsie is just as unusual in its way as the iron structure which dominates the French capital.

This remarkable local tower was built high enough to equal the depth of the very deepest U. S. Navy warship and it had to be built quickly to help ready our Navy for the great battles in the Pacific. For without such a tower there was no practical way to test and inspect the ammunition hoists and other special equipment—much of which was of new design completely developed and engineered by Sedgwick.

This tower, with its eight testing and inspection platforms and electrical equipment providing all types and voltages of current, may be seen at the Sedgwick Machine Works in Poughkeepsie. It is one of the many interesting facilities which are used by the men who are producing vertical transportation products at Sedgwick today—products which carry the name of Poughkeepsie around the world.

In our manufacturing, men learn to become all-around craftsmen and enjoy the feeling of security which comes when a man learns to handle a variety of tools in making a variety of products. ... a friendly and interesting place to work

A MANUFACTURER'S MANUFACTURER

In addition to our Sedgwick Dumb Waiters and Elevators which have for years been established as the standard for high quality in the opinions of architects, engineers, and builders—Sedgwick has long been a "Manufacturer's Manufacturer." In factory jobbing or subcontract work we supplement the production facilities of other plants, relieving "bottlenecks" and helping to meet schedules that overtax manpower and machines.

Shepherd Dogs Will Act as Night Watchmen

Chicago, Feb. 2 (AP)—Four German shepherd dogs, after intensive training, have been placed on duty as night watchmen at the Marshall Field & Co. warehouse.

The dogs make regular patrols of the big building and even punch all-clear signals by pressing a foot pedal with their front paws at each post on the beat. When the pedal is pressed, a bell rings above the dog and the "all-clear" signal flashes on the central control board.

The dogs provide protection for the two-legged watchmen and also save them nine miles of walking each night. They have been trained to sound emergencies by barking at any sign of fire. Three more dogs are being trained for duty as night watchmen.

Of Attics and Cellars

By FRANK TRIPP

"Save a thing for seven years and it will be in style again," or something like that, is an expression we often hear. Its inventor must have been a super optimist. Long before his day Shakespeare had proclaimed, "Fashion wears out more apparel than does man." Bill must have meant women; men aren't so fussy.

Pawing through the attic in search of something mislaid, I tried to find a woman's item that couldn't be pegged. I couldn't find a one; not a thing that was really back in style. But I did find plenty that made me think that the unknown optimist might have been misquoted. Maybe he said "will be useful again."

I found plenty of such. Which caused me to observe the price we pay to be in style and the foolishness of saving cast-offs so long that they remind us of it. If you have no place to save things you're sort of in luck.

Fanny and I have at last come to admit, after 47 years of housekeeping, that we would have been as well off, maybe better, if we'd never had an attic or a cellar.

Every time we about conclude to get out of our big Victorian edifice, into an apartment or a ranch house, we wonder what to do with all of the truck in the big attic and the bigger cellar. We can pretty well decide what to do with the massive furniture that we could not move into a smaller place but we don't know what to do with the thousand nicknacks we have kept stored in disuse these many years.

THEN WE ASK each other "why did we keep them?" and conclude that it was only because we had a place to store them. Otherwise we would have traded 'em in, sold 'em to a second-hand dealer or given them to someone who at the time would have prized them, used them and worn them out.

We think that we have been selfish in this respect; then recall that every time a decision had to be made we thought that our children some day would have a home of their own and we'd give the junk to them.

Well, we've seen two daughters and a granddaughter equip homes of their own—and not a blamed thing went to them from the vast store that clutters our lives and keeps us in the big house where we now rattle around, since the kids left.

That's when big houses become a nuisance. Time was when the first-born or the first married would take over the homestead and for generations the old place continued well populated and lively with young people and children.

Ours still is, on frequent occasions, and we're not lonesome, yet our kids don't live there any more; and the unused space has to be kept up, heated and cleaned for three of us, Fanny Anna and me, just the same as when every room and every seat at the table was occupied.

We talk with people who are in the same fix and give them unwanted advice: "Why don't you sell and get into a smaller place?" Then they say "Why don't you?" and we shut up.

IT'S LARGELY BECAUSE of those cursed things that we've saved so many years until they have become a part of us. Things that are still full of service but are doing nobody any good. Nobody wants them now; not even our own kids who can remember some sentimental or romantic thing about them. They just don't fit in today. They're uproariously out of style. Many of them have disproved that old seven-year hokum as much as half a dozen times.

So it looks like we'll end up running a storehouse for our symbols. Symbols of the old notion that we shouldn't throw anything away. In another 50 years they may class as antiques, but no matter how much they may bring as such they'll never repay our posterity for the storage that they owe to us.

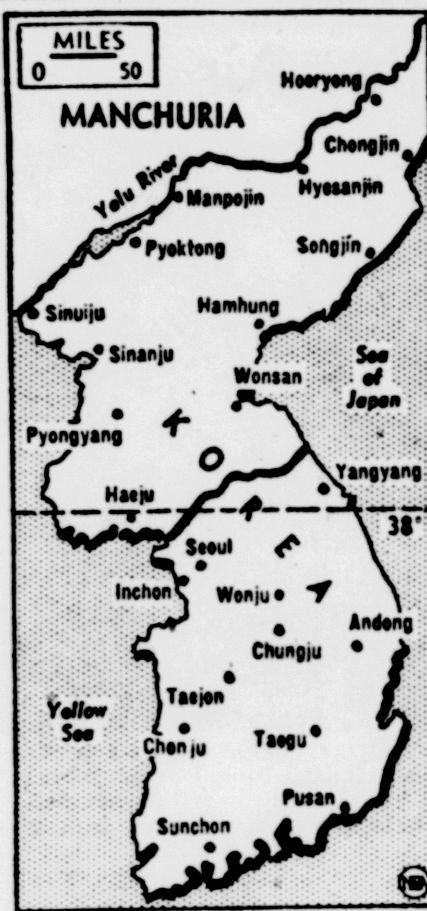

Just the same, when the old place is lighted up and filled with flowers and Fanny's touches, all who gather within its walls remark, "What a cheerful, homey house; I just love it."

There's something about an old house that you can't build into a new one.

Guess we'll keep it.

Supersonic Warplanes
London, Feb. 4 (AP)—Britain is planning to build supersonic warplanes out of molded plastics—a step which if successful might slash the costs of her defense drive. The first of the new planes may be flying within two years, it has been announced.

CHECK POINTS?—UN truce team, in order to insure complete cessation of hostilities, has suggested that neutral observers be stationed at Korean cities indicated on above Newsmap. The Allies hope that continual inspection would prevent a military build-up by either side. Curving black line across 38th parallel is proposed armistice line separating North and South Korea.

"This was a very peculiar deck of cards," said Dick Kahn, "and the king of clubs looked to me like the king of spades. You must admit my bidding is quite reasonable if I bid the king of spades instead of the king of clubs."

"True enough," I agreed. "But that was also a very peculiar raise to two spades that your partner gave you."

"That's also true," Dick admitted. "I thought he had four trumps for his raise. Otherwise I wouldn't have jumped to four spades."

Anyway, there he was in four spades doubled—a ridiculous contract. Was he downhearted? Of course he was. But Dick Kahn, who holds the Masters Pair Championship and about a dozen other national titles, gave the hand the old college try and managed to make his ridiculous contract.

West opened the king of hearts. A trump would have settled declarer's hash, but West didn't dream of leading away from his king.

Kahn ruffed with the deuce of spades, cashed the top clubs, and ruffed a club with dummy's eight of spades. He returned to his hand by ruffing a heart with the five of spades and ruffed another club with the dummy's nine of spades.

Now he took the ace and king of diamonds and ruffed a third heart in his hand, this time with the ace of spades.

By this time he had rattled off the first nine tricks, and the queen of spades was still in dummy. West was down to his fourth trumps.

Kahn now led his last club, and West could not prevent dummy from making the tenth trick with the queen of spades.

Neat, and also a little gaudy.

Two Men Perished In Apartment Fires

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—Two men perished and five other persons were burned early Saturday in two separate apartment house fires in upper Manhattan.

More than 80 tenants fled to the street in nightclothes when flames whipped through top floors of a six-story building at 517 West 117th street.

The charred body of George Muehl, 42, a fifth floor occupant, was found after the hour-long blaze was checked. His wife and son were hospitalized with burns. So was a fireman who helped rescue them.

In the same area a short time later, fire swept the fifth floor of a six-story building at 611 Academy street, leaving William Sweeney, 40, dead, and his wife and neighbor burned.

10 Million for Pakistan

Karachi, Pakistan, Feb. 4 (AP)—Pakistan Feb. 2 signed an agreement with the United States by which she got a 10 million dollar grant for the period ending next June 30. The agreement to supply equipment and technical aid comes under the Mutual Security Act. It was signed for the United States by Ambassador Avra M. Warren. Negotiations for further aid will begin at the end of June.

Opens Uew Office For Law Practice

John Ball Wilkie, who has been associated with the law offices of Lloyd R. LeFever since last August, has opened offices for practice of the law in the LeFever building at 78 Main street.

Wilkie is a son of Mrs. Adelaide H. Wilkie and the late Rev. Henry F. Wilkie of Milton. He was graduated from Marlborough High School in 1939, Haverford College in 1943 and the University of Connecticut School of Law in 1951. He served three years in the U. S. Army and is now a first lieutenant in the reserve, Counter Intelligence Corps. Wilkie was admitted to the Connecticut bar in July 1951 and the New York State bar Nov. 15, 1951.

On July 21, 1951 Wilkie was married to the former Ruth Carl Fessenden of this city and they now reside in Hurley.

Honor System Works

Yonkers, N. Y., Feb. 4 (AP)—The Central National Banks says its honor change-making system has worked so well that it has doubled the kitty from $5 to $10. The bank on Wednesday started letting people make their own change from a bin of coins in the lobby. Nobody watched, and users were on their honor not to cheat. Yesterday bank President Gerald S. Couzens said the risk has been "doubled" because "people are of proven honesty." He also said the larger kitty does not have to be filled as often as the $5 one.

Ridgway Reports

Paris, Feb. 4 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway has officially reported to the United Nations his belief the Communists are using northwest Korea as a combat training center for jet fighter pilots. Ridgway's report, covering the month of November, was contained in the UN commander's periodic survey of the Korea war submitted to Trygve Lie, UN secretary general. Discussing general action, Ridgway said there was no evidence Red power was decreasing but neither was there any indication they would try to mount an offensive.

March of Dimes Ball
Enjoyed by 300

More than 300 persons danced so that others may walk during the annual March of Dimes polio ball at the Barn Saturday night.

A varied program of entertainment featured the program which was arranged by Francis J. O'Neill, chairman of the ball.

The program proceeded at a fast pace with Dick McCarthy again acting as master of ceremonies.

The polio ball officially climaxes the annual March of Dimes campaigns which this year began January 2 and carried through the entire month of January.

Entertainment

Music throughout Saturday's program was furnished by Johnny Michaels and his Barn orchestra while Jimmy Hughes, regular performer at the Barn, entertained the group with his singing and playing of favorite tunes.

Short speeches of welcome and praise for those who had supported the polio ball were given by Mr. O'Neill and Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly.

Tap and acrobatic dancing was featured by several students of the Blossom and Blanche Dancing School including Barbara Schwartzberg, a polka; Laurin Carpenili, song, Honey Bun; and Barbara Ann Williams, a six-year-old, who presented a warmly-accepted acrobatic dance.

Eleven pupils from the Cashin Dancing School also were featured during the program.

Tap and acrobatic dancing numbers were presented by Pat Nawe, Linda Marz, Patricia Cardinale, Mildred Rothery, Betty Bunce, Kathleen Mehm, Jean Everett, Fay Davis, Janice Hendrickson, Sandra Mackey and Marian Wolf.

Tony Amato, a popular young singer of the city, offered Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy and I Won't Cry Anymore. Bill Livingston, singer, also rendered several numbers.

This year's polio drive in Ulster county was again headed by Addison Jones, Jr., director, while Mrs. William E. Powers is the county chairman.

New York—(NEA)—The very definite change in the appearance of the 1952 spring blouse is mostly a matter of sleeves. It's the Gibson Girl blouse that's getting attention, with its frilly, feminine look and its voluminous sleeves.

With these balloon, belled, lantern or leg-of-mutton sleeves, there's a new, natural shoulder line, often a dropped shoulder.

In Far East

Cpl. Donald J. Maurer of Connelly, is serving as an aircraft radio maintenance specialist with the 126th Fighter-Bomber Wing in the Far East.

A graduate of Kingston High School, Cpl. Maurer was employed at the RCA Service Company, Inc., Bronx, prior to entering the air force in January 1951. Before his overseas assignment, he was stationed at Scott Air Force Base, Ill., where he completed air force radio school. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maurer, live in Connelly.

In a pro-western Middle East defense command, according to the newspaper Al Misri:

The bloc should be organized on a defensive basis, should conform with the UN charter and should "respect" Egypt's claim for British evacuation of the Suez Canal zone and sovereignty over the Sudan.

In London the Sunday Chronicle reported that King Farouk would be commander-in-chief of the Middle East command under one proposal being considered by the British.

British-French-United States-Turkish plans for a Middle East command to substitute for British occupation of the canal zone, were rejected by Egypt last October when she canceled her alliance with Britain.

School Entered,
Typewriter Taken

Police received reports yesterday and today that School No. 5, which was badly damaged by fire of unknown origin last year, had been entered and a portable typewriter is missing.

The reports came as investigation is still in progress of breaks at St. Mary's school and School No. 2 last week.

Police headquarters was notified at 11:03 a. m., Sunday by Luke Ellsworth, janitor, that he had just arrived at the school and found that side doors were open and the principal's office had been ransacked.

Windows Found Open

Another report by the janitor at 7 a. m., today said the school apparently had been entered again during the night, and windows and a door had been found open. Apparent tampering with a safe was also reported.

Investigation of the breaks last week indicated that nothing was missing from St. Mary's School or School No. 2, although desks had been ransacked. Police received information indicating that two teenagers had been seen at St. Mary's school.

Detective Clarence Brophy is investigating. Officers Carl Janaszewicz and Leonard Ellsworth were sent to the school to make a preliminary investigation after the first break was reported Sunday.

Blames Rock Slide

For Damage to Car

Mrs. Gertrude Diehl of 29 East Pierpont street reported to the sheriff's office that the automobile she was driving was considerably damaged when it ran into a rock slide on Route 28 at Hill Top about 5:30 p. m. Sunday. The gasoline tank, muffler and other undercarriage portions of the vehicle were damaged, as were two wheels and tires, she reported.

Mrs. Diehl claimed an injury to her right hand, the sheriff's office said. The state highway department was contacted by the sheriff's office to clear the highway of rocks.

Phoenicia Parents And Teachers Meet

A special meeting of parents and teachers was held last week at the Phoenicia school, Charles Traphagen, Ontario Central School guidance teacher and elementary supervisor, was the guest speaker. Mr. Philip Gordon presided.

In his talk, Mr. Traphagen gave an explanation of tests used in the schools. Teacher-made examinations, he said, are important in that they enable the teacher to know how much of the subject matter taught, has been assimilated and understood by her students. The speaker explained, however, that more than teacher's marks are needed for counseling purposes.

Achievement tests are given in the fall of each school year which enlighten the teacher with regard to the strength and weakness of her students at a time when something can be done about it. These tests serve two purposes, they give an accurate picture of the students standing in relation to those of similar age and grade in other schools in given subjects. They are also an aid in assisting the student in his choice of further study and selection of a later career.

Mr. Traphagen explained in some detail how mental achievement tests are made up and how they are used in supervision of instruction.

Non-Regents Students
The speaker also commented upon the makeup of the high school curriculum and indicated what education would be possible for students whose aptitudes did not lean toward academic lines. He said that the building of the curriculum should be such that those students could attend high school for four years on a non-Regents level. On the other hand students who qualify can get an excellent foundation in the academic subjects. In his opinion, failure to follow this system would cut off some students from opportunities which are available to persons who have attended high school for four years and which are used for practical rather than academic ability.

At the discussion period which followed his talk, Mr. Traphagen offered to confer with individual parents concerning their children at a later date.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post
(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

SUCCESSFUL HOSTESS

Today's first letter asks: "Will you please tell me what you consider the qualifications of a successful hostess?"

First of all, the ideal hostess invariably loves people and has a faculty for bringing together those who are likely to be pleasing to one another, and who have tastes or interests in common. In fact, she has a sixth sense in her perception of the feelings of others and in her consideration for them. She also makes it a serious business to cultivate a memory for the likes and dislikes not only of friends but of acquaintances.

"In Memory of . . ."
Dear Mrs. Post: My wife died about six months ago. She had two godchildren of whom she was very fond and every year on their birthdays she remembered them with a present. I would like very much to continue this practice as I know she would have liked me to do so. Would it be correct to include her name on the card accompanying the gifts, as I would like the children to remember her?

Answer: Her name could not be used except as you have in your letter to me. I mean, you yourself have to send them from yourself but in memory of her.

Rudeness Adjusted
Dear Mrs. Post: Is it impolite to talk in a foreign language in the presence of visitors who do not understand this language?

Answer: Definitely, yes, unless the person with whom you are speaking does not understand English. In this case, you must speak in the foreigner's tongue and, insofar as is possible, act as interpreter to the others.

Guests in Absentia
Dear Mrs. Post: Should distant friends and relatives be sent invitations to regular parties the way you suggest doing for a wedding when it is a foregone conclusion they couldn't be present?

Answer: Not if there is no chance of their coming.

Is it permissible to cut a leafy salad with a knife? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-19, "The Rules of Importance," will help you. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Finishes Training Stationed in Tokyo

MELVIN J. KRYTEL

Marine Private First Class Melvin J. Krystel, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Krystel, RD 1, Kerhonkson, recently climaxed basic training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C., by receiving a promotion to his present rank. He also won the silver badge of Marine Marksman with the M1 rifle while undergoing weapons instruction on the rifle range.

Spada in Germany
Pvt. Carmine F. Spada, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Spada of 14 Derrenbacher street, has arrived at Erlangen, Germany, for duty in the European Command. He is now a member of the 48th Anti-Aircraft Artillery Command. He is now a member of the 48th Anti-Aircraft Artillery Automatic Weapons Battalion of the 1st Infantry Division. Pvt. Spada entered the military service August, 1951, and received his basic training at Fort Dix, N. J.

In Far East
Cpl. Donald J. Maurer of Connelly, is serving as an aircraft radio maintenance specialist with the 136th Fighter-Bomber Wing in the Far East.

A graduate of Kingston High School, Cpl. Maurer was employed at the RCA Service Company, Inc., Bronx, prior to entering the air force in January 1951. Before his overseas assignment, he was stationed at Scott Air Force Base, Ill., where he completed air force radio school. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maurer, live in Connelly.

Aly Pasha Says
Both these questions will naturally be in the framework of the charter of the UN.

Maher Pasha said the foremost economic policy of his government is to lower the cost of living, which he regards as a major cause of Egyptian discontent.

Survey Is Made
He said a survey is being made of damage caused by the destructive anti-British fire riots in Cairo of Jan. 26 in which 67 persons were killed and some of Cairo's finest department stores, hotels, theaters, restaurants and night clubs burned down. The riots brought a declaration of martial law and a change of governments.

Maher Pasha declared responsibility for the riots would be pinned on the guilty and some will be court martialled.

"I will not hesitate to declare to the public where the responsibility for Saturday's tragic rioting lies once investigations now being conducted are completed," he said. "Certain categories of cases will be referred to military courts and I can assure the public that no leniency will be shown toward persons whose guilt can be proved."

600 Persons Are Held
Col. Kamal Riad of the Interior Ministry's special police said today 600 persons arrested in the fire riots are still being held.

Maher Pasha made these three conditions for Egypt's participation in a pro-western Middle East defense command, according to the newspaper Al Misri.

The bloc should be organized on a defensive basis, should conform with the UN charter and should "respect" Egypt's claim for British evacuation of the Suez Canal zone and sovereignty over the Sudan.

In London the Sunday Chronicle reported that King Farouk would be commander-in-chief of the Middle East command under one proposal being considered by the British.

British-French-United States-Turkish plans for a Middle East command to substitute for British occupation of the canal zone, were rejected by Egypt last October when she canceled her alliance with Britain.

School Entered, Typewriter Taken

Police received reports yesterday and today that School No. 5, which was badly damaged by fire of unknown origin last year, had been entered and a portable typewriter is missing.

The reports came as investigation is still in progress of breaks at St. Mary's school and School No. 2 last week.

Police headquarters was notified at 11:03 a. m., Sunday by Luke Ellsworth, janitor, that he had just arrived at the school and found that side doors were open and the principal's office had been ransacked.

Windows Found Open
Another report by the janitor at 7 a. m., today said the school apparently had been entered again during the night, and windows and a door had been found open. Apparent tampering with a safe was also reported.

Investigation of the breaks last week indicated that nothing was missing from St. Mary's School or School No. 2, although desks had been ransacked. Police received information indicating that two teen-aged boys had been seen at St. Mary's school.

Detective Clarence Brophy is investigating. Officers Carl Janasiewicz and Leonard Ellsworth were sent to the school to make a preliminary investigation after the first break was reported Sunday.

Blames Rock Slide For Damage to Car
Mrs. Gertrude Diehl of 29 East Pierpont street reported to the sheriff's office that the automobile she was driving was considerably damaged when it ran into a rock slide on Route 28 at Hill Top about 5:30 p. m. Sunday. The gasoline tank, muffler and other undercarriage portions of the vehicle were damaged, as were two wheels and tires, she reported.

Mrs. Diehl claimed an injury to her right hand, the sheriff's office said. The state highway department was contacted by the sheriff's office to clear the highway of rocks.

A Sergeant's Recovery

Long Beach, Calif. (AP)—Army Sgt. Roger E. Haag, 21, believes he owes his life to a Bible, five pints of blood plasma and a tape recording. Haag was wounded in the chest while attacking a Communist-held ridge in Korea. A Bible he had in his breast pocket turned much of the shrapnel from his heart and kept his severe wounds from being fatal. Hospitalized in Japan, the sergeant was kept alive by plasma. But nurses reported the youth seemed morose, wouldn't take medicine and spoke to no one. As a last resort a tape recording of his parents' voices was flown to his bedside. As he listened through earphones, a smile spread over his face. Worried nurses told him later that they knew then the biggest part of their battle was over.

Children's Dental Health Week Set; Exhibit Arranged

National Children's Dental Health Week, this week, is being sponsored for the fourth consecutive year by the American Dental Association and its numerous state and district societies, including the Third District Dental Society of New York, of which Dr. Robert K. Ploss of this city is president.

Dr. George F. Bushnell, chairman of the Ulster-Greene Dental Study Club, has prepared an exhibit of posters and educational booklets for distribution, which will be displayed throughout the week at the Kingston Library.

Throughout the nation, members of the dental profession will join with parents, teachers, civic leaders and health workers in special programs designed to focus public interest on the need for improved dental health of the country's children.

Proclamations Issued
Special proclamations have been issued by governors and mayors, including one issued Saturday by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, proclaiming Feb. 4 to 8 as Children's Dental Health Week in Kingston.

In a statement preliminary to the observance, Dr. LeRoy M. Ennis of Philadelphia, president of the American Dental Association, pointed out that more than 90 per cent of the nation's school-age children are afflicted with tooth decay.

He added: "The appalling rate of dental decay in one of the most progressive nations on earth represents a challenge in virtually every community. Dentistry believes that the challenge can most effectively be met by making dental health education and care available to all children through the development and expansion of community dental health programs."

In the 1952 Children's Dental Health observance, the opportunity exists for promotion of the establishment of community programs with emphasis on priority of dental care for children. It is by focusing attention on children that the most practical solution lies in solving the dental ills of the nation, the Association believes," Dr. Ennis said. The ADA represents 76,000 dentists in the United States.

Arab Solidarity Urged

Beirut, Lebanon (AP)—Reduction of passport and customs barriers among Arab states were among the recommendations made at the concluding meeting of a Congress of Arab Chambers of Commerce held in Beirut and Tripoli. The congress recommended outright abolition of passports among member states of the Arab League. Reduction of customs barriers was advised, with a view to abolishing them completely as soon as this is practicable.

Plunket, Ulster county Democratic chairman; Rabbi Philip Weinberg, Congregation Ahavath Israel; Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom, Temple Emanuel; Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk. (Anter Photo)

200 Attend Rites As Local NAACP Receives Charter

More than 200 men and women attended the meeting Sunday afternoon in the YMCA auditorium for the presentation of its charter to the Kingston Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and heard speakers extol its aims and purposes in these days when the eyes of the world look to America for examples of the democratic ways of life.

The assemblage, consisting of white and colored folk of various religions, heard James Egert Allen, president of the state NAACP, say as he presented the charter to President Nathan Armstrong of the Kingston chapter.

With this charter obligations and responsibilities that fall on every liberator.

"Know no creed, no color, no social class and recognize that the organization is for all people, built on the principles of the Constitution of the United States."

"Guarantee rights and privileges on the ability and capability of individuals to do whatever task may exist for them to do in the community."

Allen said he was proud Kingston registered as the 46th chapter during his 15 years as president of the state organization, and he hoped to reach the 50 mark in the near future.

Other Speakers

Other speakers at the meeting, which also served as a memorial gathering out of respect to Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Moore, victims of racial discrimination in Florida, were Rabbi Philip H. Weinberg of Ahavath Israel, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Attorney Thomas J. Plunket chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Party; Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom of Temple Emanuel, and the Rev. Daniel L. Haynes of St. Mark's A.M.E. Church, Foxhall avenue, who was master of ceremonies.

The assemblage joined in singing patriotic songs, and Miss Dorothy Marable was soloist for the Negro National Anthem.

Rabbi Weinberg's invocation referred to the appropriate time for receiving the charter in February, the month devoted to brotherhood and the birthday of the Great Emancipator, Abraham Lincoln.

Must Know Problems

Mayor Newkirk said differences among races is nothing but misunderstanding. "We must learn to live with one another," he said, "each knowing the problems and feelings of the other." He added, "This comes with being better acquainted."

State President Allen, during his talk said it is deplorable that some "take the law into their own hands trampling on innocent human beings, depriving them of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

He referred to the violence involved in the recent deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Moore during the religious and racial discrimination demonstration in Florida.

"If democracy is to survive in the face of growing threats," he said, "it is necessary to call a halt to this sort of thing, which is occurring in other areas."

Symbols of Oppressed

"The Moors are symbols of thousands of other Americans," he stressed, "whose lives are in danger each day because they believe in the principles of democracy."

Recalling a conversation he had with Moore sometime prior to his death, Allen said Moore told him relative to NAACP activities. "If I live, I live in glory; if I die, I die in grace."

In reference to a conversation he had with United Nations delegates, Allen said "the eyes of the world are focused on America, to see if the things we have promised as their God-given rights are practiced in this country."

Look for Example

"Until we can be assured that America guarantees full equality to all its citizens," one spokesman told him, "how can we expect it to grant it to us."

He criticized the Marshall plan for its "bombastic attitude," and advised that "we destroy the soul in bestowing the gift." Allen added, "We've missed the boat in good relations."

Allen said he preferred not to call America "The Great Melting Pot" but would rather see it as the land where the talents of individuals are recognized so that each could contribute to making the nation stronger and better.

Allen warned that the fight for freedom is an endless battle and that victories are never permanent. "Each generation," he said, "must defend its heritage. There can be no peace in a world of growth."

He urged that the NAACP carry on where the Moores left off for freedom, liberty and justice for all races and creeds.

Attorney Plunket said "you people are the ones to advance your own cause, not by crying discrimination, but by educating your families so they may become part of government."

Says Hospitals Discriminate

He deplored the discrimination that exists, he said, in Kingston's hospitals where colored girls are not allowed to train for the nursing profession, and are forced to leave Kingston to take up the profession.

"This condition shouldn't exist," Plunket stressed, "in institutions supported by public contributions."

He went further and claimed that discrimination exists in New Paltz State College for Teachers, where some students are accepted but "report discrimination."

"Vote on election day without fear or favor," was his advice. "Vote for those who serve your interests best," he said, "and never sell that birthright you have at the polls."

Need Brotherhood Groups

Rabbi Bloom brought the greetings of the Jewish Council, which he referred to as one of the minority groups subject to discrimination.

"America needs such groups as yours and ours," he said, "to advance that great theme of the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man."

"Florida," said the Rev. Haynes, in referring to the deaths of the Moores, "has succeeded in making all of our supposed high American democratic pretensions seem an empty, hollow, inane mockery of Russia and her satellites, and justly so."

Shut Eyes to Situation

"I am ashamed of Florida, I am ashamed of the supposedly Christian churches and the Christian ministers in Florida and elsewhere, even here in Kingston where not one minister of the Kingston Ministerial Association is present. They have turned their eyes away from what has been going on in Lake county and in Mims, Fla., for the past few years, and have 'passed by on the other side' while fellow Americans of darker hue are being denied the most basic American and human rights."

"While we send black men to fight and die for freedom for nations ten thousand miles away, while black men fight and die to give others the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, yet here in America, these same rights are denied or circumvented, and the eastern world sits back and laughs at the inconsistency of the American democracy and of so-called four freedoms."

"No wonder the brown, black and yellow races of the eastern and Asiatic world are skeptical of any proffers which the United States may ever make."

Attack Spreads

"There is not one true Protestant or Catholic or Jew nor any real American who can absolve himself from what has been happening in Groveland and in Mims, Fla., during the past few years. But how long must this rank injustice, these foul murders continue before something is done? First, it was violence and terror against Black Americans, but now it has spread to Jews and Catholics, as such mob rule and violence always does. These murders, therefore, rests upon the consciences of every member of every minority group as a burden heavy to bear."

"We shall yet live to see that day when liberty and justice shall be for all men all over the world, liberty and justice for all men regardless of race, creed or color, and that they shall never perish from the earth."

200 Attend Rites As Local NAACP Receives Charter

More than 200 men and women attended the meeting Sunday afternoon in the YMCA auditorium for the presentation of its charter to the Kingston Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and heard speakers extol its aims and purposes in these days when the eyes of the world look to America for examples of the democratic ways of life.

The assemblage, consisting of white and colored folk of various religions, heard James Egert Allen, president of the state NAACP, say as he presented the charter to President Nathan Armstrong of the Kingston chapter, that "With this charter go obligations and responsibilities that fall on every liberal."

"Know no creed, no color, no social class and recognize that the organization is for all people, built on the principles of the Constitution of the United States."

"Guarantee rights and privileges on the ability and capability of individuals to do whatever task may exist for them to do in the community."

Allen said he was proud Kingston registered as the 46th chapter during his 15 years as president of the state organization, and he hoped to reach the 50 mark in the near future.

Other Speakers

Other speakers at the meeting, which also served as a memorial gathering out of respect to Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Moore, victims of racial discrimination in Florida, were Rabbi Philip H. Weinberg of Ahavath Israel, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Attorney Thomas J. Plunket chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Party, Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom of Temple Emanuel and the Rev. Daniel L. Haynes of St. Mark's A.M.E. Church, Foxhall avenue, who was master of ceremonies.

The assemblage joined in singing patriotic songs, and Miss Dorothy Marable was soloist for the Negro National Anthem.

Rabbi Weinberg's invocation referred to the appropriate time for receiving the charter in February, the month devoted to brotherhood and the birthday of the Great Emancipator, Abraham Lincoln.

Mayor Newkirk said differences among races is nothing but misunderstanding. "We must learn to live with one another," he said, "each knowing the problems and feelings of the other." He added, "this comes with being better acquainted."

State President Allen, during his talk said it is deplorable that some "take the law into their own hands trampling on innocent human beings, depriving them of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

He referred to the violence involvement in the recent deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Moore during the religious and racial discrimination demonstration in Florida.

"If democracy is to survive in the face of growing threats," he said, "it is necessary to call a halt to this sort of thing, which is occurring in other areas."

Symbols of Oppressed
"The Moores are symbols of thousands of other Americans," he stressed, "whose lives are in danger each day because they believe in the principles of democracy."

Recalling a conversation he had with Moore sometime prior to his death, Allen said Moore told him relative to NAACP activities, "If I live, I live in glory; if I die, I die in grace."

In reference to a conversation he had with United Nations delegates, Allen said "the eyes of the world are focused on America, to see if the things we have promised as their God-given rights are practiced in this country."

Look for Example
"Until we can be assured that America guarantees full equality to all its citizens," one spokesman told him, "how can we expect it to grant it to us?"

He criticized the Marshall plan for its "bombastic attitude," and advised that "we destroy the soul in bestowing the gift." Allen added, "We've missed the boat in good relations."

Allen said he preferred not to call America The Great Melting Pot, but would rather see it as the land where the talents of individuals are recognized so that each could contribute to making the nation stronger and better.

Allen warned that the fight for freedom is an endless battle and that victories are never permanent. "Each generation," he said, "must defend its heritage. There can be no peace in a world of growth."

He urged that the NAACP carry on where the Moores left off for freedom, liberty and justice for all races and creeds.

Attorney Plunket said "you people are the ones to advance your own cause, not by crying discrimination, but by educating your families so they may become part of government."

Says Hospitals Discriminate
He deplored the discrimination that exists, he said, in Kingston's hospitals where colored girls are not allowed to train for the nursing profession, and are forced to leave Kingston to take up the profession.

"This condition shouldn't exist," Plunket stressed, "in institutions supported by public contributions."

He went further and claimed that discrimination exists in New Paltz State College for Teachers, where some students are accepted but "report discrimination."

"Vote on election day without fear or favor," he said, "and vote for those who serve your interests best," he said, "and never sell that birthright you have at the polls."

Need Brotherhood Groups
Rabbi Bloom brought the greetings of the Jewish Council, which he referred to as one of the minority groups subject to discrimination.

"America needs such groups as yours and ours," he said, "to advance that great theme of the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man."

"Florida," said the Rev. Haynes, "in referring to the deaths of the Moores, 'has succeeded in making all of our supposed high American democratic pretensions seem an empty, hollow, inane mockery of Russia and her satellites, and just so."

Shut Eyes to Situation
"I am ashamed of Florida, I am ashamed of the supposedly Christian churches and the Christian ministers in Florida and elsewhere, even here in Kingston where not one minister of the Kingston Ministerial Association is present. They have turned their eyes away from what has been going on in Lake county and in Mims, Fla., for the past few years, and have 'passed by on the other side' while fellow Americans of darker hue are being denied the most basic American and human rights."

"While we send black men to fight and die for freedom for nations ten thousand miles away, while black men fight and die to give others the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, yet here in America, these same rights are denied or circumvented, and the eastern world sits back and laughs at the inconsistency of the American democracy and so-called four freedoms."

"No wonder the brown, black and yellow races of the eastern and Asiatic world are skeptical of any profers which the United States may ever make."

Attack Spreads
"There is not one true Protestant or Catholic or Jew nor any real American who can absolve himself from what has been happening in Groveland and in Mims, Fla., during the past few years. But how long must this rank injustice, these foul murders continue before something is done? First, it was violence and terror against Black Americans, but now it has spread to Jews and Catholics, as such mob rule and violence always does. These murders, therefore, rests upon the consciences of every member of every minority group as a burden heavy to bear."

"We shall yet live to see that day when liberty and justice shall be for all men all over the world, liberty and justice for all men regardless of race, creed or color, and that they shall never perish from the earth."

Husband, Wife Hurt In Dock Street Mishap

Alvin Carlson, 33, of 13 German street, reported to local police yesterday that he and his wife, Shirley, 30, were injured when the car in which they were riding struck a coal car on Dock street at about 1:30 a. m.

The Carlson sedan was headed west on the street when the driver was blinded by lights of another vehicle and struck a corner of the coal car which was on a siding in back of the Forst Packing Company plant.

Carlson reported bruises of the forehead and other possible injuries, and his wife suffered bruises of the face and forehead and possible other injuries. She was treated by a doctor and was to be X-rayed, the report said.

Sportsmen's Park, Elstons and Five Cs Lead Women's Tournament

High School Cagers Meet Beacon High Here Tuesday

A Division Leaders Pound 2603 Series On Central Drives

Rose Schatzel Leads With 562 Triple

The powerhouse that pre-tournament dope said would win the Class A division of the KWBA's annual city tournament is leading the field today with a rousing 2603.

Sportsmen's Park keglerettes drew alleys 7 and 8 Saturday night at the Central Recs and responded with games of 821, 983 and 799 for a total that is likely to stand for the rest of the tournament.

Elston Sport Shop leads the Class B section with 2254, while the Five Cs took over the C division leadership with 2001. The tournament ends next weekend.

Two big splits robbed Sportsmen's Park of a possible 1000 set in the middle game. The 983 itself is unlikely to be challenged.

Schatzel Hits 562
Rose Schatzel powered 562 in the leadoff spot for the Class A leaders with 187, 210 and 165. Dot Fleming furnished 210-535 and Beverly Post posted 544. Other scores were Adabelle Markle 495 and Elizabeth Schoonmaker 203-467.

Christie Wilson's 154-146-188-488 in the anchor slot, paced Elston's top B performance. Vi Slover hit 482, Marge Williams 443, M. Smith 469 and Cora Emerick 372.

Rita Saegen's 438, with 154, 139, 145, led the Five Cs to their 2001 series in the C division. Rosalie Eckdich anchored with 410. S. Green shot 397, Ruth Toffel 381 and Madeline Propp 375.

Dot Fleming hit her second "500" of the night on the 9 p. m. squad, with 168, 156, 183 to pace Bernie Singer's to 2308, good for second place in the "A" division. Miriam Posner hit 486; Evelyn Gross 460; Fannie Battagliano 475 and Eleanor Singer 380.

Runnerup in Class "B" at the moment is the Lorenzen quintet of New Paltz. With 1993, Emma Pratt shot 472 in the leadoff and J. Knickerbocker anchored with 418.

American Cleaners shot 2144 for second place in the "B" division. Rose Mellert sub-anchored with 435, Bea Arlensky hit 425, Evelyn Dolson 471.

Pirates' Dickson On Trading Block
Pittsburgh, Feb. 4 (AP)—Pitcher Murry Dickson, the Pittsburgh Pirates' main home on the firing line, is on the trading block—but that statement probably will do little more than provide fuel for baseball's hot stove league.

Cleaver Murry, a man who would hurl every day if his flesh was willing, was practically the entire Pirate mound staff last year as he wound up with 20 victories against 16 defeats. And that with a team which had to struggle to finish seventh in the National League.

Nevertheless, Manager Bill Meyer declared the Pirates desperately need infielders and Murry is being offered as trade bait.

Bruins Widen Lead Over the Rangers
By The Associated Press
The surging Boston Bruins, unbeaten in four games, today were four big points ahead of the New York Rangers in their battle for the National Hockey League's final playoff position — fourth place.

The Bruins took a firm hold on the money slot last night with a 1-0 victory over the Montreal Canadiens while the Rangers dropped a 4-3 decision to the League-leading Detroit Red Wings.

In an afternoon game, the Chicago Black Hawks snapped their two-game scoreless string with a 3-1 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Syracuse Grid Coach Is KHSAA Speaker

Ben Schwarzwaelder Due Here for Feb. 16 Banquet

Ben Schwarzwaelder, head football coach at Syracuse University, will be the principal speaker at the Kingston High School Athletic Association's annual banquet on Saturday, Feb. 16. Coach G. Warren Kias said today.

The banquet will be held in the high school gym and is open to the public.

Schwarzwaelder, former mentor at Muhlenberg College where he piloted the Mules to top national ranking in the small college football group, follows a series of distinguished athletic figures to the KHSAA function.

Although the Orange coach is not as well known as his speaking predecessors, he is rated one of the finest orators in the banquet circuit. He comes to Kingston highly recommended and Coach Kias said he would have a sock message for his listeners.

Among the athletic giants who have appeared in recent years were Lou Little, Herman Hickman, Nat Holman, John "Ox" DaGrosa, Alvin "B" McMillan, Walter "Red" Barber and a host of others.

Kingston High School athletes for the past year will be honored at the dinner.

Tickets can be had from any member of the KHSAA and from Coach Kias.

Lakers Regain Western Lead
By The Associated Press
The Minneapolis Lakers were back in first place in the jumbled Western division scramble of the National Basketball Association today.

The Lakers regained the lead last night from Rochester by shading the Royals, 77-75, on George Mikan's basket in the final three seconds of play. Minneapolis, knowing that it has to beat out Rochester for the loop crown, has chalked up four victories in five games over the Royals to earn its one-game advantage in the standings.

Mikan took scoring laurels with 25 points while Arnie Risen topped Rochester with 19, including the basket that tied the game at 75-75 with 59 seconds to play.

The Syracuse Nationals remained five games ahead of the Boston Celtics in the Eastern division race as both clubs scored victories. The Nats routed the Baltimore Bullets, 95-73, and Boston rallied to thwart the New York Knicks, 100-95.

Syracuse, in achieving its tenth straight victory at home, was led by Dolph Schayes' 27-point haystack.

The Celtics connected on 42 out of 50 foul shots to reach the century mark for the 12th time, one short of the league standard. Boston's Bob Cousy, with 30 points, was the game's high scorer. Teammate Ed Macauley tied a loop record by caging 16 straight free throws.

Gavilan Defends
Miami, Fla., Feb. 4 (AP)—Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan puts his title on the line tonight in a scheduled 15-round fight with Bobby Dykes before what promoters say will be a 16,000 crowd in Miami Stadium. Maj. W. H. Peoples, Miami promoter working under auspices of the International Boxing Club, said advance ticket sales reached $32,500 and predicted a gross gate of $100,000.

Electrol Inc. pushed New Paltz deeper into the YMCA League cellar with 77-75 squeaker in the Y basketball feature on Saturday, while Jones Dairy took an exhibition from the 50 Club, 54-42.

Two brilliant individual performances highlighted the Electrol-New Paltz clash. Tom Anacone, New Paltz guard, hit for 37 markers and Bob Dederick tossed 33 for the Electrol cagers. The locals led 38-33 at halftime and

Violet Jrs. Take Overtime Thriller

The Violet Juniors and YMCA Cadets battled for three overtime periods before Jim Woods of the Violets split the cords from 25 feet out to give his squad a thrilling 63-61 victory, Saturday at the Y court.

The regulation game ended 53-53 and at the end of the second overtime it was 61-61. Wood's long range deuce was the first score of the third extra frame.

Culjack led the Violets with 22 points and Smith and Woods hit 10 each. Marty Kantowitz was high scorer for the losers with 13 points.

Two DUSO Games Set This Week; Friday at Port

Kingston High is scheduled for two DUSO games this week, meeting the lowly but improving Beacon here Tuesday night and rugged Port Jervis on the tri-state boards Friday.

On the basis of league standings neither team figures to jeopardize the Maroon's third place rating but Coach G. Warren Kias and the Maroons know better.

Beacon sports a 1-7 mark for the season but the Dutchess quintet has flashed improved form in recent outings while losing tough games. Friday night they forced Sam Kallach's Blues into overtime before yielding, 55-54.

Port Jervis has been tough for every team in the league on its home boards. Invariably they prove a tough obstacle for Kingston. One of Kingston's greatest machines, with Big Ed Weaver, was forced into the last 40 seconds of play before a dazzling shot by Champ Holstein served the game and a long winning streak for Kingston.

Newburgh Idle
Newburgh Academy, riding high, wide and handsome with 11 straight victories will be idle Tuesday, while Monticello visits Poughkeepsie; Middletown goes to Port Jervis and Ellenville is at Fallsburg.

The Goldbacks return to action Friday at Poughkeepsie in one of those might-have-been games. Once upon a time, Coach Kias and Kingston followers figured Poughkeepsie might stop the Academicians on the Bridge City planks. Now, with the team weakened because of illness and Reggie Johnson off the squad, it shapes up as just another romp for Masterson's Marvels.

The big remaining date on the KHS calendar is, of course, February 15 when NFA visits the municipal auditorium.

Big Name Pros Test Golf Under Arclights
Inglewood, Calif., Feb. 4 (AP)—Five top professionals and amateur Joe Louis tee off tonight in the second annual "Stars Under the Stars" night golf tournament.

The sponsor, wealthy sportsman Jim Walker, will pay the winner $1,000 for each stroke under par—72. The record for the Inglewood Country Club course is 63. Thus if the winner should equal that, he'd get $9,000.

Entered with Louis are Lloyd Mangrum, Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Jimmy Demaret, Jack Burke, Jr., and Tommy Bolt. Burke won last year's contest at the Lakewood course bettering par by one stroke.

Illumination will be provided by eight portable spotlights, plus permanent night lights. Walker is sponsoring the event to demonstrate the feasibility of playing night golf on a regulation 18-hole course.

Ruzzo Pinboys Beat Ferraro's by 241
N. Nagele shot 501 to lead the Ruzzo Bowlatorium pinboys to a 241-pin victory over the Ferraro Bowlodrome pinsetters in a special match Saturday at the Bowlatorium.

The winners shot 2301 to 2060 for the losers. Nagele reeled off 189-166-146-501 and George Haines had 481 for the winners. Rudy Hohenbergs and J. Dewson had 469 each for the Ferraro's.

Kentucky Still No. 1
As for Kentucky, the No. 1 team in the weekly Associated Press poll, the Wildcats, with a mark of 9-0, last week saw their only challenger, Florida, drop virtually out of sight as a result of its second defeat of the league campaign.

The road to the pot o' gold at the end of the Big Seven trail is strewn with stones for Kansas State. Although the K-Staters are in first place with a 5-0 mark, Kansas is breathing hot down their backs with 4-1. They play on March 7 at Kansas.

With each passing week, it begins to look more and more as though St. Louis is going to come out on top in the Missouri Valley. The Billikens have a 6-0 record to show for their efforts, while defending champion Oklahoma A & M is 2-1 in loop play.

Wyoming sat back and watched Brigham Young lose a pair during the week and now has the it all the way.

Mike McCluskey topped the Daermen with 14 points and Paul Smith hit for 13. Don Hobart and Joe Norton hit 10 and 11 respectively. John Koch's eight markers led the losers.

HOCKEY HOUDINI

High in the National League rating as the new all-center is the New York Rangers' Don (Bones) Raleigh, who carries less than 150 pounds on a 5:11 frame. Raleigh has sparked the Rangers to a brilliant home record on Wednesday and Sunday nights at Madison Square Garden.

Duquesne, St. Bonaventure, Only Major Unbeaten Fives, Face Rugged Tests

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—These are the days the unbeaten and conference leaders among the college basketball teams begin to worry about every shot they or their opponents take.

The most important games of the season are coming up and the next two weeks probably will tell the story of who is going to play in the big post-season tournaments.

Both the nation's major unbeaten teams—Duquesne (14-0) and St. Bonaventure (13-0) go into action tonight in warmups before they clash next Monday at Pittsburgh. So a week hence, the unbeaten list is bound to be at exactly one.

Duquesne tackles La Salle, no setup, while St. Bonaventure entertains John Carroll. In addition, the Bonnies have dates with Murray (Ky.) State Teachers Thursday and Cincinnati Saturday.

Illinois Faces Iowa
There's another big one on tap for Saturday night and it will go far toward determining the eventual winner of the Big Ten race.

League-leading Illinois travels to Iowa for a contest with the second-place Hawkeyes. Both have lost just one game all season, but Iowa's was in the league.

Otherwise, around the country class has been holding up in practically all sectors. For example, who is going to beat out North Carolina State or Kentucky for the Southern and Southeastern Conference title, respectively?

Answer: probably no one.

North Carolina State is riding along serenely with an unblemished mark of 8-0. West Virginia is trying to put up a fight and currently sports a 7-1 mark.

Kentucky Still No. 1
As for Kentucky, the No. 1 team in the weekly Associated Press poll, the Wildcats, with a mark of 9-0, last week saw their only challenger, Florida, drop virtually out of sight as a result of its second defeat of the league campaign.

Sportsmen's Park, Elstons and Five Cs Lead Women's Tournament

High School Cagers Meet Beacon High Here Tuesday

A Division Leaders Pound 2603 Series On Central Drives

Rose Schatzel Leads With 562 Triple

The powerhouse that pre-tournament dope said would win the Class A division of the KWBA's annual city tournament is leading the field today with a rousing 2603.

Sportsmen's Park keglerettes drew alleys 7 and 8 Saturday night at the Central Recs and responded with games of 821, 983 and 799 for a total that is likely to stand for the rest of the tournament.

Elston Sport Shop leads the Class B section with 2254, while the Five Cs took over the C division leadership with 2001. The tournament ends next weekend.

Two big splits robbed Sportsmen's Park of a possible 1000 set in the middle game. The 983 itself is unlikely to be challenged.

Schatzel Hits 562

Rose Schatzel powered 562 in the leadoff spot for the Class A leaders with 187, 210 and 165. Dot Flemings furnished 210-533 and Beverly Port posted 544. Other scores were Adabelle Markle 485 and Elizabeth Schoonmaker 203-467.

Chrissie Wilson's 154-146-188-488 in the anchor slot, paced Elston's top B performance. Vi Slover hit 482, Marge Williams 443, M. Smith 469 and Cora Emerick 372.

Rita Saegen's 438, with 154, 139, 145, led the Five Cs to their 2001 series in the C division. Rosalie Eckdich anchored with 410. S. Green shot 397, Ruth Toffel 381 and Madeline Propp 375.

Dot Flemings hit her second "500" of the night on the 9 p. m. squad, with 185, 156, 183, to pace Bernie Singer's to 2308, good for second place in the "A" division. Miriam Posner hit 486; Evelyn Gross 460; Fannie Battaglini 475 and Eleanor Singer 380.

Runnerup in Class "B" at the moment is the Lorenzen quintet of New Paltz, with 1993. Emma Pratt shot 472 in the leadoff and J. Knickerbocker anchored with 418.

American Cleaners shot 2144 for second place in the "B" division. Rose Mellert sub-anchored with 495, Bea Arlensky hit 425, Evelyn Dolson 471.

Pirates' Dickson On Trading Block
Pittsburgh, Feb. 4 (AP)—Pitcher Murray Dickson, the Pittsburgh Pirates' main home on the firing line, is on the trading block—but that statement probably will do little more than provide fuel for baseball's hot stove league.

Cleaver Murry, a man who would hurl every day if his flesh was willing, was practically the entire Pirate mound staff last year as he wound up with 20 victories against 16 defeats. And that with a team which had to struggle to finish seventh in the National League.

Nevertheless, Manager Bill Meyer declared the Pirates desperately need infielders and Murry is being offered as trade bait.

Bruins Widen Lead Over the Rangers
The Bruins took a firm hold on the money slot last night with a 1-0 victory over the Montreal Canadiens while the Rangers dropped a 4-3 decision to the League-leading Detroit Red Wings.

In an afternoon game, the Chicago Black Hawks snapped their two-game scoreless string with a 3-1 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Syracuse Grid Coach Is KHSAA Speaker

Ben Schwarzwaelder Due Here for Feb. 16 Banquet

Ben Schwarzwaelder, head football coach at Syracuse University, will be the principal speaker at the Kingston High School Athletic Association's annual banquet on Saturday, Feb. 16, Coach G. Warren Kias said today.

The banquet will be held in the high school gym and is open to the public. Schwarzwaelder, former mentor at Muhlberg College where he piloted the Mules to top national ranking in the small college football group, follows a series of distinguished ### athletic figures to the KHSAA function.

Although the Orange coach is not as well known as his speaking predecessors, he is rated one of the finest orators in the banquet circuit. He comes to Kingston highly recommended and Coach Kias said he would have a sock message for his listeners.

Among the athletic giants who have appeared in recent years were Lou Little, Herman Hickman, Nat Holman, John "Ox" DaGrosa, Alvin "Bo" McMillan, Walter "Red" Barber and a host of others.

Kingston High School athletes for the past year will be honored at the dinner. Tickets can be had from any member of the KHSAA and from Coach Kias.

Lakers Regain Western Lead

(By The Associated Press)
The Minneapolis Lakers were back in first place in the jumbled Western division scramble of the National Basketball Association today.

The Lakers regained the lead last night from Rochester by shading the Royals, 77-75, on George Mikan's basket in the final three seconds of play. Minneapolis, knowing that it has to beat out Rochester for the loop crown, has chalked up four victories in five games over the Royals to earn its one-game advantage in the standings.

Mikan took scoring laurels with 25 points while Arnie Risen topped Rochester with 19, including the basket that tied the game at 75-75 with 59 seconds to play.

The Syracuse Nationals remained five games ahead of the Boston Celtics in the Eastern division race as both clubs scored victories. The Nats routed the Baltimore Bullets, 95-73, and Boston rallied to thwart the New York Knicks, 100-95.

Syracuse, in achieving its tenth straight victory at home, was led by Dolph Schayes' 27-point harvest.

The Celtics connected on 42 out of 50 foul shots to reach the century mark for the 12th time, one short of the league standard. Boston's Bob Cousy, with 30 points, was the game's high scorer. Teammate Ed Macauley tied a loop record by caging 16 straight free throws.

Gavilan Defends
Miami, Fla., Feb. 4 (AP)—Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan puts his title on the line tonight in a scheduled 15-round fight with Bobby Dykes before a crowd of promoters say will be a 16,000 crowd in Miami Stadium. Maj. W. H. Peoples, Miami promoter working under auspices of the International Boxing Club, said advance ticket sales reached $32,500 and predicted a gross gate of $100,000.

8:30—Esopus Firemen vs. Economy Con.

Electrol Inc. pushed New Paltz deeper into the YMCA League cellar with 77-75 squeaker in the Y basketball feature on Saturday, while Jones Dairy took an exhibition from the 50 Club, 54-42.

Two brilliant individual performances highlighted the Electrol-New Paltz clash. Tom Anacone, New Paltz guard, hit for 37 markers and Bob Dederick tossed 33 for the Electrol cagers. The locals led 38-33 at halftime and

Violet Jrs. Take Overtime Thriller

The Violet Juniors and YMCA Cadets battled for three overtime periods before Jim Woods of the Violets split the cords from 25 feet out to give his squad a thrilling 63-61 victory, Saturday at the Y court.

The regulation game ended 53-53 and at the end of the second overtime it was 61-61. Wood's long range deuce was the first score of the third extra frame.

Culjack led the Violets with 22 points and Smith and Woods hit 10 each. Marty Kantowitz was high scorer for the losers with 13 points.

Two DUSO Games Set This Week; Friday at Port

Kingston High is scheduled for two DUSO games this week, meeting the lowly but improving Beacon here Tuesday night and rugged Port Jervis on the tri-state boards Friday.

On the basis of league standings neither team figures to jeopardize the Maroon's third place rating but Coach G. Warren Kias and the Maroons know better.

Beacon sports a 1-7 mark for the season but the Dutchess quintet has flashed improved form in recent outings while losing tough games. Friday night they forced Sam Kalloch's Blues into overtime before yielding, 55-54.

Port Jervis has been tough for every team in the league on its home boards. Invariably they prove a tough obstacle for Kingston. One of Kingston's greatest machines, with Big Ed Weaver, was forced into the last 40 seconds of play before a dazzling shot by Champ Holstein preserved the game and a long winning streak for Kingston.

Newburgh Idle
Newburgh Academy, riding high, wide and handsome with 11 straight victories will be idle Tuesday, while Monticello visits Poughkeepsie; Middletown goes to Port Jervis and Ellenville is at Fallsburg.

The Goldbacks return to action Friday at Poughkeepsie in one of those might-have-been games. Once upon a time, Coach Kias and Kingston followers figured Poughkeepsie might stop the Academicians on the Bridge City planks. Now, with the team weakened because of illness and Eggie Johnson off the squad, it shakes up as just another romp for Master-ton's Marvels.

The big remaining date on the KHS calendar is, of course, Feb. 15 when NFA visits the municipal auditorium.

Big Name Pros Test Golf Under Arclights
Inglewood, Calif., Feb. 4 (AP)—Five top professionals and amateur Joe Louis test off tonight in the second annual "Stars Under the Stars" night golf tournament.

The sponsor, wealthy sportsman Jim Walker, will pay the winner $1,000 for each stroke under par—72. The record for the Inglewood Country Club course is 63. Thus if the winner should equal that, he'd get $9,000.

Entered with Louis are Lloyd Mangrum, Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Jimmy Demaret, Jack Burke, Jr., and Tommy Bolt. Burke won last year's contest at the Lakewood course, bettering par by one stroke.

Illumination will be provided by eight portable spotlights, plus permanent night lights. Walker is sponsoring the event to demonstrate the feasibility of playing night golf on a regulation 18-hole course.

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—These are the days the unbeaten and conference leaders among the college basketball teams begin to worry about every shot they or their opponents take.

The most important games of the season are coming up and the next two weeks probably will tell the story of who is going to play in the big post-season tournaments.

Elstons, Rams Sweep Twinbill Over Woodstock Varsity and JVs

Kleine's 34 Points Fail To Save Home Cagers

The undefeated Rams and Elston Sports scored a rare sweep of a doubleheader against Woodstock's powerful Varsity and Jayvee quintets, Friday on the village court.

Dick Bezeimer's 18 points led the Rams to a 51-40 triumph in the preliminary, the 13th straight win for the local cagers.

A balanced attack by Elstons overcame brilliant individual exploits by Big Bill Kleine and Ken Harder, for a thrilling 77-73 overtime win.

Kleine rimmed 34 points and Harder hit for 23 but Elstons had three men in double figures, including Paul Smith with 27, Bucky Bower 18 and Dan Schrader 10.

A spectacular fourth period surge culminating in Norman Foster's foul in the last 10 seconds tied the regulation game at 71-71. Elstons led 39-30 at the half and 57-39 going into the stretch when the home cagers went on a scoring spree that piled up 32 points.

The victory was the second straight for Elstons who won the opener, 76-74. A third meeting has been scheduled for March 7.

Rams Lead All Way

The Rams piled up a 31-13 halftime margin over the Jayvees but were pressed in the second half. The home cagers picked up nine points in the third period but the Rams rallied to gain a 14-12 edge in the stretch.

Dick Peters paced the Woodstock attack with 17 points, while H. Waterous and C. Van Wageningen each had 8 points.

By CHARLES J. TIANO

The name of Jack Inglis on "Pop" Morgenweck's all-time professional basketball squad might not have struck a responsive chord in your memory, but Harry L. "Pop" Edson and Judge John M. Cashin offered a quick motion and second in support of the fabulous pre-World War I Troy star.

"Inglis was one of the most graceful players I ever saw," said Edson, who goes way back to the early days of the cage game, and the judge quickly corroborated the praise.

Another old timer commented on "Pop" Morgenweck's contribution to the professional game and said he would be remembered as the greatest student and teacher of professional basketball.

"If the time ever comes when a professional Hall of Fame is instituted," said the OT, "the name of Frank Morgenweck will be well on top. He loved the game, practically to the extent of giving his life to it and for it."

The OT ventured that some fans might remember Morgie as only a "promoter." "Certainly he was a promoter," the OT continued, "for if Morgenweck had not been a promoter there would not be any of those fond memories of the halcyon days of the sport in Kingston and elsewhere in the east."

The man pointed out that "Pop" Morgenweck foresaw the coming of big time basketball but he was guilty of a mistake in judgment.

When he saw the rise of professional football, Morgie thought the football magnates would keep their athletes busy during the winter by having basketball teams. This was true to an extent, but the pro game was stultified by lack of playing facilities and large, roomy arenas of today. He was just several years ahead of the times.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

The Twaalfskill golf clan has started to converge on West Palm Beach, Fla. John Van Gousie and Justice Harry Schrick motored down last Friday and Van Haver and Ed Remmert enplaned on Monday for a gay foursome under the palms. This corner says it's 10 to 1 that Van Gousie and the judge pair off against Remmert and Haver. Eddie Schupp, Joe Esposito, Tom Fay and Lou Fucio are also wintering at West Palm Beach. Biggest hit of German Night at the Elks club was the stirring speech by Bill Weiskopf. Tom Buteau and Catskill Examiner-Recorder doing terrific job for Catskill leaders. Cpl. Tom "Fiver" Davis postcards Joe Kelly from Camp Carson, Colorado. At the foot of Pikes Peak, adds the old amateur ring killer. The Orange-Sullivan basketball league is suffering its annual affliction. . . . A grand total of 14 paid admissions witnessed this week's Monticello-Newburgh contest at cavernous Avalon Roller Rink in Newburgh. Think of the echoes!

George Uhaize, the Oneonta pitcher who terrorized Can-Am batters in the second half of the 1951 pennant race, led the league's hurlers with an astounding 1.64 earned-run-average. Uhaize also turned in the best won and lost record, 16 and 3, for 842. George McPhail, who is on the Cincinnati Reds roster for 1952, pitched the most innings, 238; faced the most batters, 866; struck out the most batters, 189; won most games, 24; started the most games, 29; and pitched most complete games, 22. Uhaize authored the only no-hit, no-run game in the league. Rickie Ostrander, far and away Kingston's best flinger, compiled a 2.94 mark in 14 games. Charlie Borden, who will be a golf pro some day, pitched at a 3.4 ERA clip in 42 innings. Workhorse Vince Canepa had a 3.72 average in 208 innings. His 9 and 14 was not a true gauge of his ability.

We always thought Jake Senor, who operates a poor man's Toots Shor on the Strand, was the last word on boxing TV. That was until he asked blandly one day: "Who is this guy Johnny Saxton 22222?" He should ask Ruby Goldstein!

Brothers George Palmatore of Poughkeepsie and Eddie Curran of Middletown left their DUO League readers with the impression that Coach G. Warren Kias closed the gates of mercy on Sam Kalloch's Blue here last Tuesday night. Far from it, fellas. Kias started substituting early in the second half, played the fourth period with five subs and yanked Leroy Hooker with 32 points at the end of three periods. The lopsided score despite the frequency of Maroon substitutions was created by the absence of several Blue regulars. The quality of mercy was definitely not strained in this instance.

Little League Has New Board Head

New York, N. Y., Feb. 4.—Paul S. Kerr was elected chairman of the board at a meeting of the National Board of Directors of Little League Baseball, Inc., held at the New York Athletic Club here today. Other officers elected to this meeting were Charles J. Durban, president; Howard J. Lamade, secretary and treasurer.

Carl E. Stotz, founder of Little League, continues as commissioner.

New members elected to the directorate are Dr. Arthur A. Esslinger, director of physical education, Springfield College; G. Herbert McCracken, publisher of Scholastic Coach, and several other scholastic magazines; Albert E. Houghton, president of the Canadian-American Baseball League; and Oliver Fawcett, one of the original founders of Little League.

Other members of the board of directors in addition to Kerr, Durban, Stotz and Lamade are: Ford Frick, Thomas H. Richardson and Emerson Yorke.

Paul S. Kerr, new chairman of the board, has been closely associated with baseball for many years, and in 1944 he was elected permanent secretary of the baseball Hall of Fame at the first meeting of that group which was appointed by the late Judge Landis.

Kerr also is vice-president and treasurer of the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum at Cooperstown. His association with that baseball shrine dates back to July, 1943. In business circles, Kerr is vice-president and secretary of the Clark Estates, Inc.

Says He'll Keep Job

Newark, N. J., Feb. 4.—(AP)—A bus driver—set to inherit $90,000—says he'll keep his job because "it gets into your blood—like wanting to fly." The bequest comes to Stuart Holzman on his 25th birthday, next Oct. 24. His main interest since he was five years old, he says, has been driving a bus. "I like people and it's interesting work," he declared. Holzman said he intends to use the money to set up a trust fund for his three-month-old son, Johnny. Then, he added, he might go into partnership with his boss and just keep on driving buses. He inherits the money from the estate of his grandfather—a Newark wholesale butcher.

Redeemers and Trinity Win Junior Church Sets

Redeemer Lutheran defeated Immanuel Lutheran, 48-38, and Trinity Lutheran routed First Presbyterian, 48-22, in Junior division Protestant Church League basketball games Saturday at the Y.

High scorer of the day was Minello of the Redeemers with 23 points. Gray of the Immanuel's rimmed 18.

Henry Williams' 274 Captures Tucson Open

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Conservative golf paid off for Henry Williams, Jr., of Kutztown, Pa., yesterday as he took the $2,000 victor's share of the $10,000 Tucson Open.

He shot for par, gambling it would win. His unspectacular 71 for the 6402, par 70, El Rio course gave him a 72-hole total of 274, two strokes better than Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn.

Middlecoff played recklessly, aiming for birdies on every hole. He made four of the first nine. It looked as if he would sweep by Williams and into the lead. Then a two-over-par six on the 10th proved fatal.

Middlecoff's 67 was best for the day. It put him two strokes in front of brawny Skee Riegel, Tulsa, Okla. Riegel pocketed $1,000 with his 72 yesterday and 278 total.

Unemployment Feared

Penang, Malaya (AP)—Rubber dealers here fear that widespread unemployment will result from Indonesia's banning of the export of some grades of rubber to Malaya. Many factories in Penang, as well as in other cities of the Federation and Singapore, are devoted almost entirely to the reprocessing of crude rubber brought in from Indonesia.

Migrating Games Are on Increase

New York, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Police raiding parties turned to floating dice games over the weekend amid reports that the migratory gambling was increasing since a federal tax cramped bookie operations.

Detectives said they caught 31 men at a Bronx game Saturday and that some $20,000 was in the game. Later, 29 of the men were released for insufficient evidence but two were held on gambling charges. The woman landlord of the building also was held on a charge of maintaining a place for gambling.

Fourteen more men were picked up yesterday in a raid on a Greenwich Village hotel. Magistrate John Pendergast ordered all 14 released on grounds of insufficient evidence.

Marital Law Declared

Pusan, Korea, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The government today proclaimed martial law in a section of southern Korea as an anti-guerrilla measure. Lt. Gen. Paik Sun Yup, commander of anti-guerrilla forces, said 19,000 guerrillas were killed or captured in a two-month campaign in the Chiri Mountains of southwest Korea.

He shot for par, gambling it would win. His unspectacular 71 for the 6402, par 70, El Rio course gave him a 72-hole total of 274, two strokes better than Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn.

Middlecoff played recklessly, aiming for birdies on every hole. He made four of the first nine. It looked as if he would sweep by Williams and into the lead. Then a two-over-par six on the 10th proved fatal.

Middlecoff's 67 was best for the day. It put him two strokes in front of brawny Skee Riegel, Tulsa, Okla. Riegel pocketed $1,000 with his 72 yesterday and 278 total.

Unemployment Feared

Penang, Malaya (AP)—Rubber dealers here fear that widespread unemployment will result from Indonesia's banning of the export of some grades of rubber to Malaya. Many factories in Penang, as well as in other cities of the Federation and Singapore, are devoted almost entirely to the reprocessing of crude rubber brought in from Indonesia.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—Prices dropped fractions to around two points on the stock market today, with the losses extending into about every major group.

There were a few gains spread through the list but for the most part the advances were in fractions.

Activity was fair during most of the session although trading quieted considerably shortly after the opening.

A couple of infrequently traded issues made their customary way moves. New York and Harlem, for instance, was ahead 25 points at one time and Texas and Pacific Land Trust was up 2½.

The market drifted downward slowly after opening on a fairly even mixture of gains and losses.

Among the deeper declines were Santa Fe, off two; Standard Oil

Interest Is Keen For C of C Dinner

More than the usual interest is being created in the annual banquet of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce scheduled Thursday night.

The speaker, Baron J. A. de Vos, will make an announcement of great importance to Kingston. The informant stated that the nature of the announcement could not be revealed.

Reservations for the banquet can still be accepted. Harry R. Richy, Jr., chairman of the banquet committee announced today. He expressed the hope that more reservations would be made because of the close historic association between Holland and the city.

Baron de Vos is the consul general of the Netherlands to the United States and his appearance adds to the 30th anniversary banquet celebrated this year in Kingston.

Helping Himself

Sgt. Thomas C. Cox, assistant instructor of the Army ROTC program at Kingston State College, Manhattan, N.Y., doesn't believe in taking help from others when he is able to provide for himself.

The 46-year-old noncom works almost round the clock to pay financial load imposed by polio which struck his six-year-old daughter, Rita Fern, two years ago. Beside his work at the college, he works as a welder at a local manufacturing plant. (AP Wirephoto)

Minks Take Over Big Airliner at New York Airport

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—Six fierce, little minks took possession of a big airliner at New York International Airport last night, held pilots, passengers and crew at bay until finally captured today.

The animals had escaped from a shipping crate.

For about 18 hours, the quick, savage, little creatures made the $2,000,000 North-west Airlines straitjacket their own, helping all challengers at a distance.

"They'd go for anybody that tried to step into the plane," said Ray Leary, airline agent.

Teeth Like Knives

"They have teeth like knives," said one cargo man, exhibiting a hand scarred suffered while trying to snatch luggage from a cargo bin.

Two agents from the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals finally used a long pole to drive the clawing, squealing minks into a multi-celled cage.

The plane was deodorized with the use of perfumes—including rose petals before passengers were permitted aboard.

The minks, being shipped from the Wildwood Mink Ranch, of White Bear, Minnesota, to Oslo, Norway, were discovered loose in cargo compartment after the plane landed last night.

After they were caught, they were put aboard a Scandinavian airliner to continue their journey, and the Northwest airliner took off on a flight to Detroit, Minneapolis and Seattle.

Plea Is Entered

Riverbort, N. Y., Feb. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Barbara Jean Hrostoski, 33, of Levittown, N. Y., today entered an amended plea of innocent by reason of insanity to a first-degree murder charge in the carbon monoxide deaths of her two children, Mrs. Hrostoski, a former army nurse, entered her original plea of innocent last November.

She was accused of causing the deaths of the children by running a hose into the family car from the exhaust pipe in a purported suicide attempt last Nov. 8 after a quarrel with her husband.

Royalty Is 'At Home'

Nairobi, Kenya, Feb. 4 (AP)—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh were "at home" in Kenya for the first time today.

They broke their royal tour for a five-day stay—their first—at the quiet mountain lodge given them by the colony as a wedding present. Elizabeth and her husband drove yesterday to the lodge, in the foothills of Mount Kenya near Nyeri.

Man Dies in Fire

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—Charles Kick, 78, died today in a fire that damaged his four-room cottage in South Ozone Park, Queens. Port of New York Authority police at nearby Idlewild Airport found his body after seeing flames spouting from the cottage, where he lived alone.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Gallery Reopens With New Works

Woodstock, Feb. 4—With the reopening of the Mollie Smith Gallery Saturday afternoon, a small but impressive collection of paintings went on view in addition to the new group of drawings, lithographs and etchings, as well as a number which have been previously seen at the gallery.

One of the most striking oils is Georgina Klitgaard's Spring Landscape, not only for its content, particularly appealing coming at this time of year, but for sparkling and contrasting forms, crispness of style and deftly handled color.

Mrs. Klitgaard, an artist of distinction, has had five one-man shows to date at the Rehn Galleries, New York, and among other one-man shows around the country has held at the Corcoran Gallery, Washington, D. C., followed by a traveling exhibition with the American Federation of Art. She is equally accomplished in the medium of watercolor, and her one-man watercolor shows have been on view at the Friends of Art, Miami, Fla., and Cincinnati, O. Among her awards are those from the Carnegie International, the San Francisco Pan-American, the Art Institute of Chicago, The Pennsylvania Academy, and the Guggenheim Foundation. She is represented in the permanent collections of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Brooklyn Museum, the New Britain Art Institute, the Dayton Art Institute, the Whitney Museum of Art and others.

Of particular interest because his marine paintings and self-portraits are more familiar here, are Henry Mattson's Roses. He has carried the pungent blues of his seascapes into the realm of still life, tinging a bouquet of white roses in a transparent vase, with the cool blue values so characteristic of the artist. The result is a uniquely decorative piece.

Also Good Teacher

John Taylor's Savannah River Landing is spacious in concept, pervaded by a subtle quality of light. Both Taylor and his wife, Andree Ruellan, have elected to include canvases in the show painted in the same locale, and her Marshlands, which contains the same feeling of wide endless horizon, heights as the result of the atmosphere of the show.

Robert Henri's Little One is a fine example of the noted painter's work, great in its simplicity and breadth of technique. His pupil, Lucie Bayard, who is represented in the exhibition with Old Fashion Bouquet, is proof of the fact that Henri was also a great teacher encouraging his students to develop their own individuality. Included also are paintings by men whose canvases have not been seen here for some time, Louis Rousseau, Richard Lahey and Andrew Dasburg.

Also making a return visit after many years absence, the work of John Rockwell is notable in his lithograph, Father and Son.

Although long known in Woodstock, Alvaro Faggi, noted sculptor, makes his bow in Woodstock's gallery with two arresting drawings in color. A master of both form and line, Faggi has a rare interchangeable quality. His sculpture is delineated by a sure sense of line, and his line drawings contain the solidity and quality of stone.

Visitors to Mrs. Smith's new exhibition will find the trip up the gallery stairs to her miniature showroom, a rewarding experience. The show will remain on view until April 1.

In these days of high prices, Smith-Parish cannot truthfully tell you that we are "cutting" prices on ROOFING Work and ROOFING Materials! Our wholesale costs have risen too—so have our operating expenses to some extent.

But...we can inform you of two important facts.

First, the quality of our merchandise is superior—in many cases better than last year! And secondly, our prices are practically the same as last year! Thus you are really purchasing better quality for the same price—which means that you are receiving a legitimate bargain.

You can prove these facts for yourself—by phoning 5656 and talking over your ROOFING problems with us. Never will we pressure you into a purchase—and always we will guarantee that you receive what you believed you were purchasing.

Fifteen Cent Beer Takes Over Today In Most Taverns

The 10 cent glass of beer today began its disappearance from the land of reality to the land of memory, joining the free lunch, the nickel cup of coffee and the penny post card.

Today is the day, a local licensee said, that the glass of beer will go up to 15 cents in most taverns in the Rosendale and Kingston area.

The boost in price was suggested at a meeting of county beer dispensers last week, but the actual date that the increase would take effect was not revealed until today.

Following the county-wide meeting attended by about 100 licensees, area meetings have been scheduled. One such meeting was held in Rosendale at The Well last night, and the 15 cent suggested price was approved. In Kingston, most taverns reportedly were putting the higher price into effect today.

Some May Hold Price
A report from Saugerties, however, indicated that several operators there favored holding to the 10 cent price a little longer. Like the nickel cup of coffee, the 10 cent glass of beer will be found in some places, for the action taken at the various meetings constitutes a recommendation, or suggestion, only. It is not binding upon the individual licensees. The size of the glass is also left up to the individual tavern keeper.

Ulster county tavern and hotel men point out that they have held the line on the 10 cent price as long as possible, and at least once were forced to cut down the size of the glass in order to retain the lower price. But, according to one licensee, the last price boost allowed distributors by the OPA resulted in a feeling that by holding to the 10 cent price the retailers were "gradually putting themselves out of business."

A minimum price for bottled beer has also been suggested, so that regular eastern beer in 12 ounce bottles would cost 30 cents, with premium beers going for 35 cents. The seven-ounce bottle will sell at a minimum of 20 cents. Eastern beer had been selling variously from 25 to 40 cents in different establishments.

Search Is Statewide

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 4 (P)—The search for Winnie Ruth Judd, red-haired trunk murderer of 21 years ago, spread throughout Arizona today with police admitting they were baffled by her disappearance. Officers from border to border have been alerted to watch all points of entry into the state and particularly roads leading into Mexico where some think she may be headed. "We have no clues," Sheriff L. C. Boies of Maricopa county stated, "and none of the usual tips received have panned out."

Uranium Is Discovered

Stockholm, Sweden, Feb. 4 (P)—Rich uranium deposits have been discovered in Sweden's rocky soil, a high atomic energy official disclosed today. Harry Brynne, director of the part government-controlled atomic energy company, told interviewers miners have found the uranium in shale deposits near Stockholm.

think we are beginning to make progress," he said.

At the same time, Libby emphasized that negotiators still are "180 degrees apart" on the major issues—voluntary repatriation and safeguards to insure return of displaced civilians.

The allies dropped their demand for participation of the international committee of the Red Cross on committees to handle details of prisoner exchange and civilian repatriation. Instead, Libby proposed that national Red Cross organizations of both sides be represented.

The Communists said they would consider this plan.

Libby devoted considerable time to detailing the allied position on the nine-point prisoner exchange plan offered by the Reds Sunday.

In reply to questions, the Communists explained the parole section of their plan meant that released prisoners would promise not to fight again in Korea.

The text said prisoners would promise to return to a "peaceful life" and not "take part again in acts of war." There was no limit on time or place.

She made her first public appearance four months later. In four years she won a five-state contest.

described the guaranteed annual wage as inflationary and a guise for the industry paying "large sums for no work at all."

More Than $1,000 Each

The total demands of the union would average more than $1,000 a year per worker, Fairless said. Since V-J Day, he said, the pay and other benefits of the steel workers "have gone up five times in five years."

The raises, he added, have been far in excess of any increase in productivity or in the cost of living.

"Today our steel workers are among the highest paid wage earners in the world," he said.

The first speaker for industry before the panel, Fairless said higher prices for steel, following a wage increase, would set a further inflationary pattern throughout the nation.

"We've been telling ourselves that we'll have just one more little shot of inflation and that tomorrow we'll swear off," he said.

"But tomorrow never comes." If the nation is to remain strong, he said, "somehow, sometime we've got to stop this economic jag. There is only one way to stop this wage-price spiral and that is to stop it."

The possibility of a nation-wide steel strike hinges on the outcome of the hearings. The union threatened to strike Jan. 1 but postponed the strike deadline to Feb. 23.

Present wages average between $1.92 and $1.97 an hour.

In these days of high prices, Smith-Parish cannot truthfully tell you that we are "cutting" prices on ROOFING Work and ROOFING Materials! Our wholesale costs have risen too—so have our operating expenses to some extent.

But...we can inform you of two important facts.

First, the quality of our merchandise is superior in many cases better than last year! And secondly, our prices are practically the same as last year! Thus you are really purchasing better quality for the same price—which means that you are receiving a legitimate bargain.

You can prove these facts for yourself — by phoning 5656 and talking over your ROOFING problems with us. Never will we pressure you into a purchase—and always we will guarantee that you receive what you believed you were purchasing.

Fifteen Cent Beer Takes Over Today In Most Taverns

The 10 cent glass of beer today began its disappearance from the land of reality to the land of memory, joining the free lunch, the nickel cup of coffee and the penny post card.

"Today is the day," a local licensee said, that the glass of beer will go up to 15 cents in most taverns in the Rosendale and Kingston area.

The boost in price was suggested at a meeting of county beer dispensers last week, but the actual date that the increase would take effect was not revealed until today.

Following the county-wide meeting attended by about 100 licensees, area meetings have been scheduled. One such meeting was held in Rosendale at The Well last night, and the 15 cent suggested price was approved. In Kingston, most taverns reportedly were putting the higher price into effect today.

Some May Hold Price
A report from Saugerties, however, indicated that several operators there favored holding to the 10 cent price a little longer.

Like the nickel cup of coffee, the 10 cent glass of beer will be found in some places, for the action taken at the various meetings constitutes a recommendation, or suggestion, only. It is not binding upon the individual licensees. The size of the glass is also left up to the individual tavern keeper.

Ulster county tavern and hotel men point out that they have held the line on the 10 cent price as long as possible, and at least once were forced to cut down the size of the glass in order to retain the lower price. But, according to one licensee, the last price boost allowed distributors by the OPA resulted in a feeling that the retailers were "gradually putting themselves out of business."

A minimum price for bottled beer has also been suggested, so that regular eastern beer in 12 ounce bottles would cost 30 cents, with premium beers going for 35 cents. The seven-ounce bottle will sell at a minimum of 20 cents. Eastern beer had been selling variously from 25 to 40 cents in different establishments.

Search Is Statewide

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 4 (AP)—The search for Winnie Ruth Judd, red-haired trunk murderer of 21 years ago, spread throughout Arizona today with police admitting they were baffled by her disappearance. Officers from border to border have been alerted to watch all points of entry into the state and particularly roads leading into Mexico where some think she may be headed. "We have no clues," Sheriff L. C. Boies of Maricopa county stated, "and none of the usual tips received have panned out."

Uranium Is Discovered

Stockholm, Sweden, Feb. 4 (AP)—Rich uranium deposits have been discovered in Sweden's rocky soil, a high atomic energy official disclosed today. Harry Brynne, director of the part government-controlled atomic energy company, told interviewers miners have found the uranium in shale deposits near Stockholm.

think we are beginning to make progress," he said.

At the same time, Libby emphasized that negotiators still are "180 degrees apart" on the major issues—voluntary repatriation and safeguards to insure return of displaced civilians.

The allies dropped their demand for participation of the international committee of the Red Cross on committees to handle details of prisoner exchange and civilian repatriation. Instead, Libby proposed that national Red Cross organizations of both sides be represented.

The Communists said they would consider this plan.

Libby devoted considerable time to detailing the allied position on the nine-point prisoner exchange plan offered by the Reds Sunday.

In reply to questions, the Communists explained the parole section of their plan meant that released prisoners would promise not to fight again in Korea.

The text said prisoners would promise to return to a "peaceful life" and not "take part again in acts of war." There was no limit on time or place.

U. S. F-51 Mustangs fire-bombed and strafed the big Communist supply depot at Haeju Sunday and destroyed or damaged 40 buildings. The air force reported explosions rocked the area and fires billowed throughout the base.

Pastor Makes Violins

Washington, (AP)—A pastor, unable to afford a violin that matched his young daughter's talent, made his own and thereby a hobby was born. The Rev. Clarence E. Ferguson, a Baptist minister here, started to read up on violins about the time he gave his 7-year-old daughter, Mary Alice, a half-sized violin. She made her first public appearance four months later. In four years she won a five-state contest.

described the guaranteed annual wage as inflationary and a guise for the industry paying "large sums for no work at all."

More Than $1,000 Each
The total demands of the union would average more than $1,000 a year per worker, Fairless said. Since V-J Day, he said, the pay and other benefits of the steel workers "have gone up five times in five years."

The raises, he added, have been far in excess of any increase in productivity or in the cost of living.

"Today our steel workers are among the highest paid wage earners in the world," he said. The first speaker for industry before the panel, Fairless said higher prices for steel, following a wage increase, would set a further inflationary pattern throughout the nation.

"We've been telling ourselves that we'll have just one more little shot of inflation and that tomorrow we'll swear off," he said. "But tomorrow never comes."

If the nation is to remain strong, he said, "somehow, sometime we've got to stop this economic jag. There is only one way to stop this wage-price spiral and that is to stop it."

The possibility of a nation-wide steel strike hinges on the outcome of the hearings. The union threatened to strike Jan. 1 but postponed the strike deadline to Feb. 23.

Present wages average between $1.92 and $1.97 an hour.
